Russian Naval Officer Arrested for Espionage By the F.B.I. at Portland

Lt. Nicolai Redin Jailed on Charges Involving Destroyer Assigned to Atomic Bomb Test

Won't Talk

Had Been Under Close Watch for Four Years in This Country

Washington, March 27 (AP) — A puzzling but spine-tingling spy mystery confronted A-bomb conscious Americans today as F.B.I. agents snared a young Russian Naval officer preparing to flee by ship from Portland, Ore.

On the record, Lt. Nicolai Gregorovich Redin, 29-year-old member of the Soviet Purchasing Commission at Seattle, was arrested last night on espionage charges involving plans and information regarding the U.S.S. Yellowstone, a destroyer tender assigned to take part in the scheduled atomic bomb test this summer.

The formal charge was disclosed late last night by Assistant F.B.I. Agent Julius A. Bernard at Portland, hours after F.B.I. Chief J. Edgar Hoover had announced tersely in Washington that Redin had been seized as he was about to board a Russian canning vessel for home.

Arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Robert A. Leedy, the Soviet officer, wearing the uniform of his rank, was asked whether he understood English.

Thumping Leedy's desk, Redin cried, "I will not talk, I will not talk."

He then demanded to see the Soviet consul, who was not represented at the proceedings.

But Leedy, fixing bail at $25,000, ordered the officer to be held in Multnomah County Jail in default of bond until another hearing is set.

Red Academy Graduate

Redin, a graduate of the Russian Naval Academy who came to this country four years ago, had been under "intensive F.B.I. scrutiny" for several months, Hoover said in Washington.

State Department officials and the Russian Embassy were silent.

There was no immediate clear-cut answer to the No. 1 question posed by the arrest: Could atomic bomb secrets be involved?

But a broad hint that they might be came from the House Committee on Un-American Activities, which for several weeks has been digging into reports that a foreign spy ring is at work in this country.

Committee Counsel Ernie Adamson said the group headed by Rep. John S. Wood (D-Ga.) has a closed-door meeting scheduled for today, adding to a reporter:

"I assume after the meeting the chairman will have something to say about this arrest."

Specific Charges

At Portland, Bernard said Redin was charged with obtaining information about the U.S.S. Yellowstone for use and advantage of "a foreign nation, to wit the U.S.S.R." and had "induced another to obtain plans, documents and writings" relating to a warship of the U. S. Navy.

Bernard said the charge accused

Yellowstone Mightiest New Type Destroyer

Seattle, March 27 (AP)—The U.S.S. Yellowstone, which figured prominently last night when Lt. Nicolai Redin was arrested in Portland, Ore., on espionage charges, is in Bangor, Wash., on Puget Sound, the 13th Naval District said today.

The Navy has described the Yellowstone as a new type of destroyer tender and termed it a "floating navy yard" capable of fixing anything from a ship's boilers to a stopwatch."

It was the longest ship ever built in a Seattle yard, with a length of 514 feet and a gross tonnage of 13,000 tons. The Yellowstone was launched April 12, 1945, commissioned January 15 and made a shakedown cruise to San Diego.

Town of Esopus Has Chamber of Commerce

Thomas Bohan Is Elected as the First President; U.N.O. Publicity Is Formation Factor

The Town of Esopus Chamber of Commerce was organized Tuesday evening at a meeting held in the town clerk's office in Port Ewen, as the result of the nationwide publicity given the township when it was proposed as a possible site for the United Nations Organization.

This favorable publicity has brought many requests for information regarding this area, both for homes and industrial plants, and led to the organization of the Chamber of Commerce.

About 35 persons representing all the communities in the town were present at the meeting, when the Chamber of Commerce was formed. The following officers were elected: Thomas Bohan, of the River road, Ulster Park, president; P. Joseph Beichert of Port Ewen, vice president; Milton Tsitsera of Ulster Park, vice president; Charles Elmendorf, Rifton, vice president; Alice Tinnie of Port Ewen, secretary, and Raymond Howe of Port Ewen, treasurer.

Places Represented

The communities represented at the meeting were Esopus, West Park, Ulster Park, Port Ewen, Connelly, Rifton and St. Remy.

Plans to appoint directors from every community in the town were made, and they will be shortly appointed.

The schedule of annual membership dues were fixed. Members in business will pay $5 annually. These will include proprietors of hotels, boarding houses, tourist camps, camps, farmers, business houses, garages, gas stations, grocery stores, etc.

The membership fee for those not in business will be $2 a year.

The newly organized Chamber of Commerce plans to print and distribute 6,000 folders describing the town of Esopus.

Explain Purpose

The officers of the Esopus Chamber of Commerce said that it was the intention of the organization to attract not only vacationists to the area, but also to interest new industry, new home owners, and to work as a unit for the prosperity and development of the entire town.

"We plan to make the Chamber of Commerce an active force in the town," said President Bohan, "working for the best interests of the entire township."

Kingston City Goes Over Top in Drive For Red Cross Fund

Today the City of Kingston topped its quota in the Red Cross Fund Drive, for the second consecutive year, the second time in the history of the city, and the city becomes the second city in New York State to reach its quota.

A total of $20,359 has been turned in to the credit of the City of Kingston, whose quota had been established at $18,000.

Considering the county as a whole, the Red Cross reported a total of $36,000 received against the county quota of $46,000. This means that a report of $10,000 additional will put the entire county "over the top," also for the second time in its history.

Ulster Legionnaires Send Petition to Governor Requesting That He Approve Bill

Among those petitioning Governor Thomas E. Dewey to sign the Wicks-Hatfield Bill, which makes provision for construction of the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge over the Hudson, are the members of the Ulster County American Legion.

At a recent meeting of the County Legion, representing 2,300 Legionnaires and eleven Legion Posts in the county, it was directed that a letter be sent to the governor asking him to sign the bill.

Posts represented are those at Marlborough, Highland, Esopus, New Paltz, Rosendale, Saugerties, Woodstock, Phoenicia, Ellenville, Wallkill and Kingston.

Emphasized advantages of direct highway communication with the east bank of the Hudson river are:

Soviet Agents View Spy Arrest As" Abduction"

Portland, Ore., March 27 (AP)—The capture of handsome, young Lt. Nicolai G. Redin, Soviet Naval officer charged with espionage, was related by a Portland police detective who said three Russian agents appeared last night at police headquarters to report the "abduction of Lt. Redin as he stepped toward the S.S. Alma Ata gangplank.

Detective H. J. McCormick said a Capt. D. Kladov, who claimed he represented the Russian consul general at San Francisco, I. Zabello, of Seattle, and A. Moslovsky, who gave a Portland address, appeared at police headquarters and reported Lt. Redin had been spirited away two hours earlier "for no reason."

Zabello related he and Lt. Redin had approached the Russian vessel berthed along Front avenue here about 6 p. m. He told detectives two cars that had been following them as they walked toward the ship suddenly closed in and men got out. They were very polite, but insistent, he said, and told Lt. Redin to accompany them. Zabello was left standing at the ship without any explanation as the men hustled the Soviet officer into a car.

Detective McCormick said Zabello claimed he did not see any of the men produce credentials for the seizure of Lt. Redin. He said the Russians reported the Navy officer carried no large amounts of money or any important papers. McCormick said Capt. Kladov asked that "no publicity" be given the affair.

The Forest Fire Control Department of the State Conservation Department has been requested by Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hollis of 321 Carpenter street, Oneida, to watch for wreckage of a plane which their son, Lt. Robert L. Hollis, was piloting last fall when he disappeared while on a flight from New York to Rome, N. Y. It is believed the plane was forced down in the Catskills or in the region of Cooperstown. Fire observers and forest rangers have been instructed to be on the lookout for such plane.

Washington, March 27 (AP)—A Senate banking subcommittee today recommended confirmation of Commodore James K. Vardaman, Jr., for a 14-year-term on the Federal Reserve Board of Governors. State Will License Barbers, Beauticians

Albany, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—State licensing of barbers and beauty parlor operators and employes was authorized early today by the Legislature shortly before final adjournment.

Separate bills setting up separate agencies to regulate and license barbers and hairdressers provoked strong Democratic attacks in which the Republican administration was accused of "regimenting" and creating political jobs. Supporters contended state regulation would protect the professions and the health of patrons.

The Assembly approved the cosmetology (beauty parlor) bill, 25 to 21, after it was approved, 46 to 6, in the Senate. The vote on the barber licensing measure was 85 to 49 in the Assembly, 43 to 10 in the Senate.

Regulation would be in charge of the secretary of state, who would be assisted by five-member advisory committees.

6 Patrolmen May Retire if Dewey Signs Police Bill

25-Year Proposal Passes Legislature Tuesday; Move Is Optional With Officers

Six members of the Kingston Police Department are eligible to retire under the provisions of the Condon-Rapp bill, which yesterday passed the state legislature, and now awaits the governor's signature to become a law.

The measure provides that policemen may retire, if they so choose, after 25 years of service.

One of the six, Chief of Police Charles Phinney, retires from active service on April 30, after serving 38 years and four months.

The other five members of the police force who are eligible, if the bill is signed by the governor, are Sergeant James P. Martin, and Officers James E. Welch, Elbert Soper, Gurnsey Burger and Peter J. Camp.

These men, under the provisions of the bill, do not have to retire unless they so desire. All of them have been members of the police department for more than a quarter of a century.

Kingston's police force today numbers 37 men. There are 31 members of the force who have not completed 25 years of service, although this year Sergeant Ray Van Buren and Sergeant William T. Roedell, will have served a quarter of a century.

Peter Keresman, a former member of the Kingston Police Department, and for some years past secretary of the State Police Conference, has been in Albany for several days, exerting every effort to have the Condon-Rapp bill passed by the legislature.

X-ray Program Planned in County

County TB Association Is Preparing Survey for Entire Area

Several industries, schools, and other groups in Kingston and Ulster county have planned to cooperate in the all-out campaign against tuberculosis, being carried on by the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association with a mass chest X-ray survey. Sessions will be held at the Ellenville High School on April 8 and in Kingston on April 9, 10. Cooperating with the medical society, health and school officials, the organization of the survey is well under way.

The procedure is simple. By systematic scheduling, over 100 persons per hour can be X-rayed. After the pictures are developed and read by tuberculosis specialists, a report is sent to the home of every individual X-rayed. Persons with significant findings will be instructed to consult their family physician to whom the tuberculosis association will send a report.

The program will include teachers and high school seniors of Ellenville and Kerhonkson as well as various individuals. Already signed up for the survey in Kingston are Baltz Pajama Factory, Van Slyke and Horton Cigar Fac-

Prediction Is That Some Mills Will Be Shut Down by April 10 in Tieup

Washington, March 27 (AP)—Government agencies moved swiftly today to soften the blow due to fall April 1 when John L. Lewis calls upon his 400,000 soft coal miners to take a "rest."

However, spokesmen for the bituminous operators predicted the steel industry—core of the nation's reconversion program — would be affected immediately and that steel mills would be shut down by April 10.

These predictions followed Lewis' decision to terminate his present contract with the soft coal producers as of midnight Sunday.

On the government side, a spokesman for the Solid Fuels Administration disclosed that an order is "in the works" to freeze coal shipments until some form of industrial rationing can be worked out.

Likewise, Howard T. Colvin, Associate Director of the Federal Conciliation Service, said "the government will now interest itself in the case," on the basis of indications that negotiations between the United Mine Workers and the bituminous operators have collapsed.

Harry Moses, representing the so-called "captive mines" whose entire output goes to the steel companies which own them, told newsmen yesterday he could not indicate how soon steel mills as a whole would be forced to shut down because of a coal shortage.

Bills Passed by Legislature Tuesday and Sent to Governor

Albany, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—Creation of an emergency college at Sampson Naval Training Station to accommodate 10,000 to 12,000 students was approved unanimously today by the legislature shortly before final adjournment. The legislature also passed a bill providing for grants from the $85,-000,000 Veterans Emergency Housing Fund to build or convert dwellings, classrooms and educational facilities as part of Governor Dewey's university expansion and student-housing program, both bills went to the Governor.

Under the college bill, the Education Department is authorized to contract with existing colleges for courses of higher education. The state would pay the cost of instruction and associated expenses not covered by other sources.

Veterans would have admission preference. The college would teach freshmen and sophomore courses. The bill's time limit is July 1, 1948.

Meanwhile, a last-minute flood of legislation was passed and sent to the Governor. The bills would:

Increase the number of court of claims judges from five to six.

Raise the Attorney General's salary from $12,000 to $20,000 a year.

Establish a commission to study state governmental departments and recommend improvements.

Implement the constitutional amendment approved last year giving veterans civil service preference for five years.

Require state regulation of all persons importing migrant farm or food processing labor into the state.

Permit women over 21 years of age to work in multiple shift factories until midnight instead of 10 p. m.

Appropriate $25,000 to Cornell University for floriculture research.

Make violators of O.P.A. regulating guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to fines up to $25 and 5-day pail sentences.

Permit the loan of municipal police officers to neighboring municipalities during emergencies.

Britain Will Pay Off 650 Million Obligation to U. S. by Year 2002

Lend-Lease and Other and Wartime Obligations Included in Accord Signed Dec. 6

Washington, March 27 (AP)—The United States and Britain today announced nine agreements for settling Lend-Lease and other wartime obligations, under which this country will be paid about $650,000,000 plus interest by New Year's Year's Day 2002.

A memorandum covering the agreements was signed in Washington by Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson and the British ambassador, the Earl of Halifax.

The broad agreement on the obligations, including the fixing of the balance due the U. S. at about $650,000,000, was reached last December 6 and announced along with details of the projected $3,-750,000,000 loan to Britain.

At that time, however, it was stated that "specific agreements necessary to implement these understandings, setting forth the terms in detail," were being prepared. These are covered in the 18,000-word document issued today.

The $650,000,000—like the $3,-750,000,000 loan if approved by Congress—is to be repaid in 50 annual installments beginning December 31, 1951. It will draw interest at two per cent.

Of the total sum, about $118,-000,000 is due for goods and services furnished—or to be furnished—Britain under V-J Day. These either had been contracted for under Lend-Lease or were agricultural products already allocated to Britain.

The remaining $532,000,000 represents the balance due this country for: (1) Lend-Lease supplies on hand in Britain on V-J Day and (2) U. S. Army-Navy surplus property and installations in Britain, ownership of which with a few exceptions passes to Britain under today's agreement.

Agreements Listed

Here is a brief summary of the nine agreements:

1. Makes provision for delivery of Lend-Lease and reciprocal aid (reverse Lend-Lease) after V-J Day, consisting generally of goods "in process of procurement or delivery" on that date, which are to be paid for "on the basis of actual costs."

2 Lists previously unsettled war claims of each government accepted by the other, and provides for waiver of claims on which agreement was not reached.

3. Transfers ownership of Lend-Lease stocks held by British civilian authorities (such things as food, lumber and steel) and reciprocal aid stocks held by U. S. civilian authorities on V-J Day.

4. Does virtually the same thing as No. 3 for Lend-Lease and reciprocal aid military supplies held by the armed forces of both countries. Oil, ships and non-combat aircraft are excepted. The U. S. retains certain "recapture" rights, but probably will not use them.

5. Gives Britain title, to a number of Lend-Lease transport planes and permits leasing of others, but provides for the return of some non-combat planes to the U. S.

6. Defines the share of each country in oil stocks sent to the other under Lend-Lease or reciprocal aid. Each government may withdraw certain amounts of oil free from its share for use by its military forces.

7. Provides for the transfer generally of U. S. installations on Bri-

Compromise Plan Being Considered by Group on Subcommittee in Meeting Today

Want to Hear Ala

Russia Stubborn About Keeping Iranian From Testifying

LATE BULLETIN

New York, March 27 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council's subcommittee, appointed to find a compromise formula in the Iranian case, adjourned after meeting an hour and a half today with the announcement that "no agreement has yet been reached."

Secretary of State Byrnes would make no statement. He referred reporters to Porter McKeever, press attache of the American delegation, who said he had been authorized to say:

"No agreement has been reached yet. The meeting is over. They adjourned at 12:45 p. m."

Andrei Gromyko, Russian representative on the Council and the sub-committee, said repeatedly:

"I have nothing at all to say."

The sub-committee, made up of U. S., French and Russian representatives, will report to the chairman of the Council this afternoon.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

New York, March 27 (AP)—The possibility of a deadlock between the United States and Russia over a United Nations hearing for Iran was reported causing serious concern among American officials today.

A sub-committee, including representatives of the United States, Russia and France, began meeting in an effort to find an acceptable compromise formula.

Secretary of State Byrnes, Soviet Ambassador Andrei Gromyko, and French Ambassador Henri Bonnet went into session in Bonnet's suite on the 14th floor of the Pierre Hotel shortly after 11 o'clock to try to reach some decision in time for a report to the Security Council at 3 p. m. today.

Gromyko and Byrnes were accompanied to the conference by only one aide each.

Possible Way Out

One possible way out of the difficulty which American officials appeared willing to accept was a proposal that Iran Ambassador Hussein Ala should be called by the Security Council merely to present his views on whether his government would suffer if the Iranian case were delayed, as Russia demands, until April 10th.

Even this, however, may not be acceptable to Gromyko, whose instructions from Moscow evidently call for him to get a delay or else boycott all council meetings at which the Iranian subject is discussed with an Iranian representative participating.

If Russia persists in his absolute refusal to agree to hear any statement of Ala and if the United States is equally adamant about allowing him to speak, then it appeared almost certain that Russia would be out-voted in today's full council session, that Ala would be invited, and that Gromyko might then either walk out of the meeting or absent himself at any sessions at which Ala appeared.

Want Agreement

Officials in private conversations made clear that the reason for the American insistence for hearing Ala is that no agreement has yet been completed between Iran and Russia, and that although Red army troops are moving out of Iran, the situation is still one which might work to the great disadvantage of the smaller nation.

Byrnes believes, according to some persons familiar with his views, that it is essential as a matter of principle, for the Security Council to give Iran, or any other relatively small state, an opportunity at any time to make its case known and to express its views to the Council virtually on a basis of equality with any Council member.

Press for Just Settlement

This is especially important in the present case because of the lack of agreement between Iran and Russia, and the possibility that Iran might be compelled to accept conditions very much

Britain Will Pay Off 650 Million Obligation to U. S. by Year 2002

Lend-Lease and Other and Wartime Obligations Included in Accord Signed Dec. 6

Washington, March 27 (AP)—The United States and Britain today announced nine agreements for settling Lend-Lease and other wartime obligations, under which this country will be paid about $650,000,000 plus interest by New Year's Year's Day 2002.

A memorandum covering the agreements was signed in Washington by Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson and the British ambassador, the Earl of Halifax.

The broad agreement on the obligations, including the fixing of the balance due the U. S. at about $650,000,000, was reached last December 6 and announced along with details of the projected $3,750,000,000 loan to Britain.

The $650,000,000—like the $3,750,000,000 loan if approved by Congress—is to be repaid in 50 annual installments beginning December 31, 1951. It will draw interest at two per cent.

Of the total sum, about $118,000,000 is due for goods and services furnished—or to be furnished—Britain under V-J Day. These either had been contracted for under Lend-Lease or were agricultural products already allocated to Britain.

The remaining $532,000,000 represents the balance due this country for (1) Lend-Lease supplies on hand in Britain on V-J Day and (2) U. S. Army-Navy surplus property and installations in Britain, ownership of which with a few exceptions passes to Britain under today's agreement.

Agreements Listed

Here is a brief summary of the nine agreements:

1. Makes provision for delivery of Lend-Lease and reciprocal aid ordered Lend-Lease after V-J Day, including generally of goods "in process of procurement or delivery" on that date, which are to be paid for "on the basis of actual costs."

2. Lists previously unsettled war claims of each government accepted by the other, and provides for waiver of claims on which agreement was not reached.

3. Transfers ownership of Lend-Lease stocks held by British civilian authorities (such things as food, lumber and steel) and reciprocal aid stocks held by U. S. civilian authorities on V-J Day.

4. Does virtually the same thing as No. 3 for Lend-Lease and reciprocal aid military supplies held by the armed forces of both countries. Ordnance and non-combat aircraft are excepted. The U. S. retains certain "recapture rights," but probably will not use them.

5. Gives Britain title to a number of Lend-Lease transport planes and permits leasing of others, but provides for the return of some non-combat planes to the U. S.

6. Defines the scope of each country in (3) stocks sent to the other under Lend-Lease or reciprocal aid. Each government may withdraw certain amounts of oil free from its share for use by its military forces.

7. Provides for the transfer generally of U. S. installations on Bri-

Soviet Agents View Spy Arrest As "Abduction"

Portland, Ore., March 27 (AP)—The capture of handsome, young Lt. Nicolai G. Redin, Soviet Naval officer charged with espionage, was related by a Portland police detective who said three Russian agents appeared last night at police headquarters to report the "abduction of Lt. Redin as he stepped toward the S.S. Alma Ata gangplank.

Detective H. J. McCormick said a Capt. D. Kladov, who claimed he represented the Russian consul general in San Francisco, A. Zabello, of Seattle, and A. Moslovsky, who gave a Portland address, appeared at police headquarters and reported Lt. Redin had been spirited away two hours earlier "for no reason."

Zabello related he and Lt. Redin had approached the Russian vessel berthed along Front avenue here about 6 p. m. He told detectives two cars that had been following them as they walked toward the ship suddenly closed in and men got out. They were very polite, but insistent, he said, and told Lt. Redin to accompany them. Zabello was left standing at the ship without any explanation as the men hustled the Soviet officer into a car.

Detective McCormick said Zabello claimed he did not see any of the men produce credentials for the seizure of Lt. Redin. He said the Russians reported the Navy officer carried no large amounts of money or any important papers. McCormick said Capt. Kladov asked that "no publicity" be given the affair.

Hollis of 221 Carpenter street, Oneida, to watch for wreckage of a plane which their son, Lt. Robert L. Hollis, was piloting last fall when he disappeared while on a flight from New York to Rome, N. Y. It is believed the plane was forced down in the Catskills or in the region of Cooperstown. Fire observers and forest rangers have been instructed to be on the lookout for such plane.

Vardaman Confirmed

Washington, March 27 (AP)—A Senate banking subcommittee today recommended confirmation of Commodore James K. Vardaman, Jr., for a 14-year-term on the Federal Reserve Board of Governors. Chairman Radcliffe (D.-Md.) informed the full Banking Committee that the subcommittee had voted without dissent in favor of confirmation, with Senator Butler (R.-Neb.) not participating.

Hussein Ala (right), Iranian ambassador to the United States, gestures before taking his seat in the audience at the session. Gromyko later told the council that arguments Ala advanced for council action on the Russo-Iran problem were "ill-founded."

State Will License Barbers, Beauticians

Albany, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—State licensing of barbers and beauty parlor operators and employes was authorized early today by the Legislature shortly before final adjournment.

Separate bills setting up separate agencies to regulate and license barbers and hairdressers provoked strong Democratic attacks in which the Republican administration was accused of "regimenting" and creating political jobs. Supporters contended state regulation would protect the professions and the health of patrons.

The Assembly approved the cosmetology (beauty parlor) bill, 25 to 21, after it was approved, 46 to 6, in the Senate. The vote on the barber licensing measure was 85 to 49 in the Assembly, 43 to 10 in the Senate.

Regulation would be in charge of the secretary of state, who would be assisted by five-member advisory committees.

6 Patrolmen May Retire if Dewey Signs Police Bill

25-Year Proposal Passes Legislature Tuesday; Move Is Optional With Officers

Six members of the Kingston Police Department are eligible to retire under the provisions of the Condon-Rapp bill, which yesterday passed the state legislature, and now awaits the governor's signature to become a law.

The measure provides that policemen may retire, if they so choose, after 25 years of service.

One of the six, Chief of Police Charles Rumney, retires from active service on April 30 after serving 38 years and four months.

The other five members of the police force who are eligible, if the bill is signed by the governor, are Sergeant James P. Martin, and Officers James E. Welch, Elbert Soper, Gurney Burger and Peter J. Camp.

These men under the provisions of the bill, do not have to retire unless they so desire. All of them have been members of the police department for more than a quarter of a century.

Kingston's police force today numbers 37 men. There are 23 members of the force who have not completed 25 years of service, although this year Sergeant Ray Van Buren and Sergeant William T. Rondell will have served a quarter of a century.

Peter Koresman, a former member of the Kingston Police Department, and for some years past secretary of the State Police Conference, has been in Albany for several days, exerting every effort to have the Condon-Rapp bill passed by the legislature.

Ship Quarantined

Hongkong, March 27 (AP)—The U. S. cruiser Los Angeles was quarantined in Hongkong harbor today after two cases of smallpox were diagnosed aboard Rear Adm. C. Turner Joy, commander of the American South China force, was reported aboard.

Fear Coal Strike Will Hit Steel Industry Immediately

Prediction Is That Some Mills Will Be Shut Down by April 10 in Tieup

Washington, March 27 (AP)—Government agencies moved swiftly today to soften the blow [illegible] April 1 when John L. Lewis calls upon his 400,000 soft coal miners to take a "rest."

However, spokesmen for the bituminous operators predicted the steel industry—core of the nation's reconversion program — would be affected immediately and that steel mills would be shut down by April 10.

These predictions followed Lewis' decision to terminate his present contract with the soft coal producers as of midnight Sunday.

On the government side, a spokesman for the Solid Fuels Administration disclosed that an order is "in the works" to freeze coal shipments until some form of industrial rationing can be worked out.

Likewise, Howard T. Colvin, Associate Director of the Federal Conciliation Service, said "the government will now interest itself in the case," on the basis of indications that negotiations between the United Mine Workers and the bituminous operators have collapsed.

Harry Moses, representing the so-called "captive mines" whose entire output goes to the steel companies which own them, told newsmen yesterday he could not indicate how soon steel mills as a whole would be forced to shut down because of a coal shortage.

X-ray Program Planned in County

County TB Association Is Preparing Survey for Entire Area

Several industries, schools, and other groups in Kingston and Ulster county have planned to cooperate in the all-out campaign against tuberculosis, being carried on by the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association with a mass chest X-ray survey. Sessions will be held at the Ellenville High School on April 8 and in Kingston on April 9, 10. Cooperating with the medical society, health and school officials, the organization of the survey is well under way.

The procedure is simple. By systematic scheduling, over 100 persons per hour can be X-rayed. After the pictures are developed and read by tuberculosis specialists, a report is sent to the home of every individual X-rayed. Persons with significant findings will be instructed to consult their family physician to whom the tuberculosis association will send a report.

The program will include teachers and high school seniors of Ellenville and Kerhonkson as well as various individuals. Already signed up for the survey in Kingston are Baltz Pajama Factory, Van Slyke and Horton Cigar Fac-

Bills Passed by Legislature Tuesday and Sent to Governor

Albany, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—Creation of an emergency college at Sampson Naval Training Station to accommodate 10,000 to 12,000 students was approved unanimously today by the legislature shortly before final adjournment. The legislature also passed a bill providing for grants from the $85,000,000 Veterans Emergency Housing Fund to build or convert dwellings, classrooms and educational facilities as part of Governor Dewey's university expansion and student-housing program, now on his way to the Governor.

Under the college bill, the Education Department is authorized to contract with existing colleges for courses of higher education. The state would pay the cost of instruction, plus associated expenses not covered by other sources.

Veterans would have admission preference. The college would have freshmen and sophomore courses. The bill's time limit is July 1, 1948.

Meanwhile, a last-minute flood of legislation was passed and sent to the Governor. The bills would:

Appropriate $10,000,000 for grade crossing elimination.

Grant $1,750,000 for additional state aid to central school districts.

Increase the number of court of claims judges from five to six.

Raise the Attorney General's salary from $12,000 to $20,000 a year.

Establish a commission to study state governmental departments and recommend improvements.

Implement the constitutional amendment approved last year giving veterans civil service preference for five years.

Require state regulation of all persons importing migrant farm or food processing labor into the state.

Permit women over 21 years of age to work in multiple shift factories until midnight instead of 10 p. m.

Appropriate $25,000 to Cornell University for floriculture research.

Compromise Plan Being Considered by Group on Subcommittee in Meeting Today

Want to Hear Ala

Russia Stubborn About Keeping Iranian From Testifying

LATE BULLETIN

New York, March 27 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council's subcommittee, appointed to find a compromise formula in the Iranian case, adjourned after meeting an hour and a half today with the announcement that "no agreement has yet been reached."

Secretary of State Byrnes would make no statement. He referred reporters to Porter McKeever, press attache of the American delegation, who said he had been authorized to say: "No agreement has been reached yet. The meeting is over. They adjourned at 12:45 p. m."

Andrei Gromyko, Russian representative on the Council and the sub-committee, said repeatedly:

"I have nothing at all to say."

The sub-committee, made up of U. S., French and Russian representatives, will report to the chairman of the Council this afternoon.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

New York, March 27 (AP)—The possibility of a deadlock between the United States and Russia over a United Nations hearing for Iran was reported causing serious concern among American officials today.

A sub-committee, including representatives of the United States, Russia and France, began meeting in an effort to find an acceptable compromise formula.

Secretary of State Byrnes, Soviet Ambassador Andrei Gromyko, and French Ambassador Henri Bonnet went into session in Bonnet's suite on the 14th floor of the Pierre Hotel shortly after 11 o'clock to try to reach some decision in time for a report to the Security Council at 3 p. m. today.

Gromyko and Byrnes were accompanied to the conference by only one aide each.

Possible Way Out

One possible way out of the difficulty which American officials appeared willing to accept was a proposal that Iran Ambassador Hussein Ala should be called by the Security Council merely to present his views on whether his government would suffer if the Iranian case were delayed, as Russia demands, until April 10th.

Even this, however, may not be acceptable to Gromyko, whose instructions from Moscow evidently call for him to get a delay or else boycott all council meetings at which the Iranian subject is discussed with an Iranian representative participating.

[illegible] refusal to agree to hear any statement of Ala and if the United States is equally adamant about allowing him to speak, then it appeared almost certain that Russia would be outvoted in today's full council session, that Ala would be invited, and that Gromyko might then either walk out of the meeting or absent himself at any sessions at which Ala appeared.

Want Agreement

Officials in private conversations made clear that the reason for the American insistence on hearing Ala is that no agreement has yet been completed between Iran and Russia and that Ala can find army troops are moving out of Iran, the situation is still one which might work to the great disadvantage of the [illegible]

Press for Just Settlement

Fear Coal Tieup Will Affect Steel

But he asserted that a conservation program would be placed in effect immediately, affecting production, that some mills would be closed in 10 days. Others, he said, would be shut down progressively within a month.

The rapid-fire developments were sparked yesterday by Lewis' announcement that members of his U.M.W. in the soft coal field would "be home with their families" next week, in line with the miners' traditional refusal to work without a contract.

No Strike Says Lewis

Lewis asserted he was not calling a strike, and he cited figures to indicate that coal stockpiles are sufficient to meet industrial needs unless the contract negotiations are protracted.

Charles O'Neill, spokesman for the coal operators negotiating committee, told a news conference that at no time since negotiations began March 12 had Lewis made any specific demands on the industry.

"It's the most unusual approach I've ever seen to try to reach an agreement," O'Neill declared. "We can't tell what the other fellow wants."

Giving weight to indications that negotiations had collapsed — despite additional conferences set for today — O'Neill said Lewis had refused to discuss wage and hour demands until the operators accepted the "principle" of a health and welfare fund for coal miners.

The "principle," O'Neill continued, was rejected by the operators. Under Lewis' proposal, it would have been based on an assessment for all coal produced, to be paid by the industry and administered by the union.

Lewis told reporters that a six-point proposal offered by the operators as a basis for continuing negotiations was "Membo-Jumbo." High on the list was an offer of approximately 18½ cents an hour wage increase, which the operators said was in accord with recent pay boosts granted by the steel, oil and automobile industries.

As a compromise on the health and fund issue, the operators proposed setting up a joint committee to work out a plan of contributions by miners and operators to a fund which would be used to "mitigate unusual hardships" resulting from mine accidents.

President May Decide On Broadcast to Russia

Washington, March 27 (AP) — President Truman may decide soon whether the United States should beam "Voice of America" broadcasts to the Soviet Union in Russian.

Assistant Secretary of State William Benton said today he would submit to Secretary Byrnes in three or four weeks "a study and recommendation" on the subject of foreign language broadcasts to northern Europe, including the U.S.S.R.

Government officials say that if such broadcasts appear technically and financially feasible, the final decision on their political advisability no doubt would be made by the President himself. Congress would have to provide necessary funds.

Cautions Veterans About High Prices for Homes

Washington, March 27 (AP)—The Veterans Administration cautioned veterans today against buying homes at present prices saying they should level off "eventually."

Asa B. Groves, acting chief appraiser of the V.A. Loan Guarantee Service, said he issued the advice "in anticipation of a sharp rise in applications for G.I. loans" as a result of recent liberalization of loan guarantee and insurance regulations.

An amendment to the G.I. Bill of Rights gives veterans ten instead of two years in which to take advantage of loan benefits.

Since passage of the bill in June, 1944, nearly 90,000 veterans have obtained loans totaling $418,807,685 to buy homes. About 42 per cent of this was guaranteed by V.A.

French Mandate Given Signal for Freedom

Saigon, French Indo-China, March 27 (AP)—Cochin China, for 84 years a directly administered French colony, is reported to have received permission to set up its own provisional government within a fortnight in a further step towards the establishment of an Indo-Chinese federation of free states.

Nguyen Van Thinh was elected president of the projected government at a meeting of the Cochin Chinese Consultative Council yesterday.

Jean Henri Cedille, French commissioner for Cochin China, is ultimately slated to revert to the status of an adviser.

Four Officers and 51 E.M. in Mediterranean Theatre Embroiled in Dispute

Rome, March 27 (AP)—The entire staff of the Mediterranean edition of the U. S. Army newspaper Stars and Stripes requested reassignment today after six weeks of struggle over censorship of the servicemen's letters column with Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee, Theatre Commander.

Gen. Lee in a verbal order yesterday relieved from duty Maj. Hal C. Kestler, Waucoma, Iowa, the officer-in-charge of Stars and Stripes.

Kestler said three junior officers and 51 enlisted men on the paper had sought transfers as a result, and that he had asked for an Army court of inquiry to investigate his administration.

Kestler addressed a letter to Gen. Lee through Brig. Gen. Charles L. Dasher, Jr., commanding the Rome area, saying that he welcomed relief from duty which "because of repeated affronts to my ability, character and intelligence, has now become intolerable."

Temperature in 70's Fourth Day in Kingston

Tuesday was the fourth day this month in which the official city thermometer registered in the 70's. The highest point reached yesterday was during the afternoon when 74 degrees was recorded.

The warmest day so far this year was March 14, when the official thermometer hit 79 degrees in the shade. The other days when temperatures were recorded in the 70's were March 13, 72 degrees; and March 22, when the mercury hit 73 degrees.

Another rainstorm broke over the city late Tuesday afternoon. Temperatures that day ranged from 45 to 74 degrees.

The lowest temperature recorded last night was 51 degrees, and at 8:45 a. m. today the official thermometer was registering 56 degrees.

Russia Restores Puppet Governor to Chinese

Chungking, March 27 (AP)—Russia agreed today to release Henry Pu-Yi, former puppet governor of Manchuria, to China. K. C. Wu, minister of information, said the Russians had agreed to give up Pu-Yi after protracted negotiations. It generally is assumed that the former Japanese puppet will be tried as a war criminal.

The Russians captured Pu-Yi after they entered Manchuria.

Meantime, Liu Chien, China's vice minister of foreign affairs, said China has accepted Russia's offer to withdraw her troops from Manchuria by the end of April, but the foreign office is not yet able to state the extent at which the process is under way. The Russians have notified China of withdrawal only from Mukden and Fushun.

Fear Coal Tieup Will Affect Steel

But he asserted that a conservation program would be placed in effect immediately, affecting production, that some mills would be closed in 10 days. Others, he said, would be shut down progressively within a month.

The rapid-fire developments were sparked yesterday by Lewis' announcement that members of his U.M.W. in the soft coal field would "be home with their families" next week, in line with the miners' traditional refusal to work without a contract.

No Strike Says Lewis

Lewis asserted he was not calling a strike, and he cited figures to indicate that coal stockpiles are sufficient to meet industrial needs unless the contract negotiations are protracted.

Charles O'Neill, spokesman for the coal operators negotiating committee, told a news conference that at no time since negotiations began March 12 had Lewis made any specific demands on the industry.

"It's the most unusual approach I've ever seen to try to reach an agreement," O'Neill declared. "We can't tell what the other fellow wants."

Giving weight to indications that negotiations had collapsed — despite additional conferences set for today — O'Neill said Lewis had refused to discuss wage and hour demands until the operators accepted the "principle" of a health and welfare fund for coal miners.

The "principle," O'Neill continued, was rejected by the operators. Under Lewis' proposal, it would have been based on an assessment for all coal produced, to be paid by the industry and administered by the union.

Lewis told reporters that a six-point proposal offered by the operators as a basis for continuing negotiations was "Membo-Jumbo." High on the list was an offer of approximately 18½ cents an hour wage increase, which the operators said was in accord with recent pay boosts granted by the steel, oil and automobile industries.

As a compromise on the health and fund issue, the operators proposed setting up a joint committee to work out a plan of contributions by miners and operators to a fund which would be used to "mitigate unusual hardships" resulting from mine accidents.

President May Decide On Broadcast to Russia

Washington, March 27 (AP) — President Truman may decide soon whether the United States should beam "Voice of America" broadcasts to the Soviet Union in Russian.

Assistant Secretary of State William Benton said today he would submit to Secretary Byrnes in three or four weeks "a study and recommendation" on the subject of foreign language broadcasts to northern Europe, including the U.S.S.R.

Government officials say that if such broadcasts appear technically and financially feasible, the final decision on their political advisability no doubt would be made by the President himself. Congress would have to provide necessary funds.

Cautions Veterans About High Prices for Homes

Washington, March 27 (AP)—The Veterans Administration cautioned veterans today against buying homes at present prices saying they should level off "eventually."

Asa B. Groves, acting chief appraiser of the V.A. Loan Guarantee Service, said he issued the advice "in anticipation of a sharp rise in applications for G.I. loans" as a result of recent liberalization of loan guarantee and insurance regulations.

An amendment to the G.I. Bill of Rights gives veterans ten instead of two years in which to take advantage of loan benefits.

Since passage of the bill in June, 1944, nearly 90,000 veterans have obtained loans totaling $418,807,685 to buy homes. About 42 per cent of this was guaranteed by V.A.

French Mandate Given Signal for Freedom

Saigon, French Indo-China, March 27 (AP)—Cochin China, for 84 years a directly administered French colony, is reported to have received permission to set up its own provisional government within a fortnight in a further step towards the establishment of an Indo-Chinese federation of free states.

Nguyen Van Thinh was elected president of the projected government at a meeting of the Cochin Chinese Consultative Council yesterday.

Jean Henri Cedille, French commissioner for Cochin China, is ultimately slated to revert to the status of an adviser.

MacArthur Patch

Tokyo, March 27 (AP)—The men and women of General MacArthur's headquarters soon will be wearing the first shoulder patch ever designed for a command assigned to him. The patch bears a blue flag on an olive drag background, with the letters GHQ superimposed on the flag.

Fourth Lenten Service At St. Paul's Tonight

The fourth Lenten service will be held this evening at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Stars and Stripes Editors Resign

Four Officers and 51 E.M. in Mediterranean Theatre Embroiled in Dispute

Rome, March 27 (AP)—The entire staff of the Mediterranean edition of the U. S. Army newspaper Stars and Stripes requested reassignment today after six weeks of struggle over censorship of the servicemen's letters column with Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee, Theatre Commander.

Gen. Lee in a verbal order yesterday relieved from duty Maj. Hal C. Kestler, Waucoma, Iowa, the officer-in-charge of Stars and Stripes.

Kestler said three junior officers and 51 enlisted men on the paper had sought transfers as a result, and that he had asked for an Army court of inquiry to investigate his administration.

Kestler addressed a letter to Gen. Lee through Brig. Gen. Charles L. Dasher, Jr., commanding the Rome area, saying that he welcomed relief from duty which "because of repeated affronts to my ability, character and intelligence, has now become intolerable."

Temperature in 70's Fourth Day in Kingston

Tuesday was the fourth day this month in which the official city thermometer registered in the 70's. The highest point reached yesterday was during the afternoon when 74 degrees was recorded.

The warmest day so far this year was March 14, when the official thermometer hit 79 degrees in the shade. The other days when temperatures were recorded in the 70's were March 13, 72 degrees; and March 22, when the mercury hit 73 degrees.

Another rainstorm broke over the city late Tuesday afternoon. Temperatures that day ranged from 45 to 74 degrees.

The lowest temperature recorded last night was 51 degrees, and at 8:45 a. m. today the official thermometer was registering 56 degrees.

Russia Restores Puppet Governor to Chinese

Chungking, March 27 (AP)—Russia agreed today to release Henry Pu-Yi, former puppet governor of Manchuria, to China, K. C. Wu, minister of information, said the Russians had agreed to give up Pu-Yi after protracted negotiations. It generally is assumed that the former Japanese puppet will be tried as a war criminal.

The Russians captured Pu-Yi after they entered Manchuria.

Meantime, Liu Chieh, China's vice minister of foreign affairs, said China has accepted Russia's offer to withdraw her troops from Manchuria by the end of April, but the foreign office is not yet able to state the extent at which the process is under way. The Russians have notified China of withdrawal only from Mukden and Fushun.

Lenten Services Are Planned by Baptist Church

The schedule follows:

ULSTER INCOME TAX BILL

The large Federal income tax returns from taxpayers in Ulster County are a reflection of healthy business conditions in the county. According to a breakdown of government figures on collections, just compiled, local taxpayers contributed more than its quota of income taxes to Uncle Sam in 1945. The local returns reached the high figure for the county of almost $23,020,000, helping to swell the total income tax returns from individuals throughout the country to a record-breaking $19,885,000,000. Slightly more than half the amount represented taxes withheld from salaries and wages.

Although tax rates were at the same level as the year before, Ulster County's returns represent an increase of seven per cent over that year. Ulster County paid .116 per cent of the nation's individual income taxes although it has only .061 per cent of the population.

The demands on taxpayers will not be as great this year. Revisions made in the Federal income tax bill, chiefly in the form of larger exemptions, are expected to remove nearly twenty-five per cent of the taxpayers from the rolls. The total collection from individuals is expected to drop about 13 per cent.

CATHOLIC CHARITIES

In a world which has up to so recently demonstrated man's capacity for inhumanity to his brother man, it is heartening to realize that, in this country at least, the war made no change in our traditional custom of caring for our less fortunate brothers. Our voluntary giving to maintain those organizations devoted to welfare and charitable work among the poor, not only continued, during the war years but increased in volume. Now as a result of the war, these organizations are faced with increased difficulties and responsibilities. Broken homes, following hasty and ill-advised wartime marriages, homeless children, aged and dependent children unable to carry on alone, youths drifting into delinquency for want of supervision—these, added to the year-in and year-out services of these organizations, make their need greater than ever.

One such agency is Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of New York. It is one of the largest and with its 186 member agencies gave care last year to more than 368,000 persons in the archdiocese, which includes Ulster County.

As in the past, this year's campaign from March 31 to April 10, is directed primarily to Catholics, but without doubt, it will find support among people of all faiths, as previous financial appeals have done.

GREAT OPPORTUNITY

One of the surest things in this present world is that no individual or group wants war now. There are individuals and groups that would like to see various adjustments made in geographical boundaries and the processes by which nations deal with each other; but in general there are, or can readily be provided, adequate means of readjusting any such wrongs or inequalities as may need attention. And fortunately there is right now, in the meeting of the United Nations Security Council in New York, the best possible means of bringing these matters to the attention of the civilized world in general.

It would be folly for statesmen to ignore such practical opportunities as have been presented for the civilized world in general, when nations are poised, so to speak, between wars, and when the world in general is so eager for peace.

Controlled access will be one of the main features of the New York State Thruway System. Vehicles will be permitted to enter and leave it only at specially designed points.

Recent events unfortunately add some support to the English philosopher Bertrand Russell's statement that a lot of people would rather be dead than rational.

Some people are hopelessly old-fashioned They still think thrift is a virtue.

EIGHT-MAN SUPREME COURT

The prolonged absence of Mr. Justice Jackson from the United States does this country no good. As the prosecutor of senile Nazis, Mr. Jackson may be exercising considerable legalistic ingenuity, but the Supreme Court calendar is loaded with cases that have to wait until it is possible again to have 5-4 decisions. Apparently 4-4 decisions are no good. The court can, of course, function if it has a 5-3 decision or a 6-2 decision.

But when the court divides evenly, the unfortunate American involved in the case has to wait until Mr. Justice Jackson gets through with Goering, Hess, et al. Perhaps he will then come home and, as the New York State Bar Association suggests, cease to deprive the justices "of the learning and work" of the absent member.

The Supreme Court is usually honored among Americans as a body apart from the whirl and worry of immediate politics. It is supposed to be aloof. Appointment to the Supreme Court has been regarded as the highest honor that can come to a lawyer, and Presidents usually have avoided appointing to the court lawyers who would bestow no honor upon it.

Mr. Roosevelt took Mr. Justice Roberts from the bench to investigate Pearl Harbor. Mr. Roberts's report has been a subject of controversy since he issued it. The congressional investigation of the Pearl Harbor farrago gave the impression either that Mr. Justice Roberts was a nodding investigator or that he placed the will of the President above the full and precise truth.

Then Mr. Justice Byrnes found the bench tiresome, so Mr. Roosevelt took him off and made him the head of one of those controversial "O" administrative bodies which confused us during the war and since. Finally, Mr. Byrnes landed the post of secretary of state, having failed to become vice president.

So, Mr. Jackson was taken off the bench to become a Nazi prosecutor under a juridical theory of collective guilt, alien to the American concept of the rights and dignity of the individual man. It is a pity because Mr. Justice Jackson is a lawyer of quality who will all his life have to live down the very bad law of Nuremberg. Some Americans, Republicans, Communists, generals and admirals will fear to appear before Mr. Jackson lest he apply some of the curious doctrines and procedures he employs at Nuremberg to them. And meanwhile Americans are waiting to have their business attended to while Goering and Jackson quarrel over questions that concern us as little as whether Stalin or Trotsky was the lesser Marxist.

The New York Bar Association asks a few pertinent questions on the subject:

"Is it not desirable, also, that a man who accepts appointment to the Supreme Court be required to lay aside every other ambition? If a judge is dreaming of future offices, is not his judgment likely to be impaired—human nature being what it is? Is it too much to ask of a lawyer, who takes his place upon that exalted bench, that he not again hold public office? Pension is available for the retired justice; and, of course, a justice should be entitled, if he quits the bench, to practice law. But would it be too much to ask, in the interests of the highest standards of the judiciary, that he look not to other office during or after his services on the Supreme Court?

The questions are not at all bad. They might be answered by several justices now on the bench. For instance, every time a top job in Washington is opened up by somebody being kicked out, a ferocious propaganda is hurled at the American people for Mr. Justice Douglas to get the job.

It is because of all this that the aforesaid Bar Association proposes this amendment to the Constitution:

"No justice of the Supreme Court of the United States shall during his term hold any other public office or perform any other function in behalf of the federal government, or of any state or other governmental entity; nor shall he after his term hold any public office or perform any function in behalf of the federal government, or of any state or other governmental entity."

MIGRAINE

I write often about migraine — one-sided headache — because there are so many men and women suffering with this prostrating illness — one-sided headache, nausea, and vomiting. Though the cause is unknown treatment by ergotamine tartrate or by breathing in 100 per cent oxygen brings relief in the great majority of cases.

Most physicians attribute the cases they encounter to mental and physical tiredness (neurasthenia), and advise complete rest in a quiet and dark room.

Several months ago I spoke of the excellent results obtained by Drs. Stuyvesant Butler and William A. Thomas, by use of histamine into a vein in the treatment of Meniere's disease. They felt that as Menieres disease resembles migraine so much—dizziness, nausea, vomiting, partial loss of hearing—that as histamine helped Menieres it might help migraine. Of 34 patients treated by the injection of histamine into a vein, 24 were cured (kept free of symptoms) and 7 improved.

Before calling a case genuine migraine Drs. Butler and Thomas made sure that all the outstanding symptoms were present with no symptoms whatever between attacks. They also stated that there is often a family history of allergy especially to certain foods such as chocolate.

That the family history is important in the treatment of migraine is pointed out by Dr. Walter Alvarez, Mayo Clinic in Rhode Island Medical Journal. "The woman with migraine headaches does not need a thorough medical overhauling. One never finds the cause of migraine by any amount of searching throughout the body. The cause is a hereditary predisposition; the attack is a sort of storm which takes place in an oversensitive brain.

Time should be spent in talking over their life problems and showing them how to live more calmly and happily."

The thought then is that these over ambitious individuals, mostly women, should learn to take life's problems in their stride, that first things should come first in life.

Constipation

It has been estimated that there are more persons with constipation than there are without it. For information on this subject send today for Dr. Barton's helpful booklet entitled "Constipation." To obtain it just send ten cents and a three cent stamp, to cover cost of handling and mailing, to The Bell Library, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Manila (AP)—Two air lines with executives who fought for the Philippines are active in an island post-war aviation boom. Bridges wrecked and ships sunk, Filipinos are patronizing air services as not only the fastest way to get places but the only way. In three months, Far Eastern Air Transport, Inc., beginning operation with four surplus C-47s bought from the Army, has hauled more than a million and a half pounds of freight and now has 14 transports and flights to 11 Philippine cities. The chief pilot is Maj. Henry W. Meider.

Philippine Air Lines is resuming war-interrupted service. Lt. Col. P. I. Gunn, Arkansas born, is operations manager.

Go Ahead And Kick Him--

The World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP) World Traveler

Paris, March 26 — A distinguished Frenchman remarked to me during a dinner conversation that his country is very ill and that he believes the other western Allies should treat her accordingly—that is, with firmness when she is unreasonable, and with material aid when she needs it.

This line has kept running through my mind so persistently that I finally decided to incorporate it here. Probably it has stuck with me because I'm sure from my own observations that my friends' diagnosis is correct. Whether his prescription is right is something to be determined by the Allied governments.

Apropos of this, one notes that former Governor Harold Stassen in his New York speech asked Americans that they "promptly extend credits under proper terms to those who seriously need them, which includes England, France, Greece and Russia."

I've stressed the point of France's illness in previous articles, but her position is so serious that it can't be overemphasized. It's grave, not only for her but for the world at large, because this important country is as vital to global well-being as is your arm to your body.

France's case is rendered especially grave by complications. As this column previously has reported, she is ill economically, politically and spiritually. She was sickening when Hitler loosed his blitzkreig, and the shock of her frightful defeat, coupled with the Hell of the Nazi occupation, led to the present crisis—for crisis it is.

Needs Moral Support

My French friend of the dinner conversation is right when he says his country needs moral as well as material help. She isn't the France of old. The general public is bewildered and is increasingly inclined to experiment with political nostrum in the hope of finding relief.

Then there's another element entering into the situation, and that is injured pride. What else could be expected in the case of a nation which so long was one of the world's dominant powers? France finds it hard to accept the change brought by the Hitlerian conquest, and this has been responsible for many of her international political moves which haven't found favor in the eyes of all the Allies. She is fighting to retrieve her former position.

Recovery a Long Haul

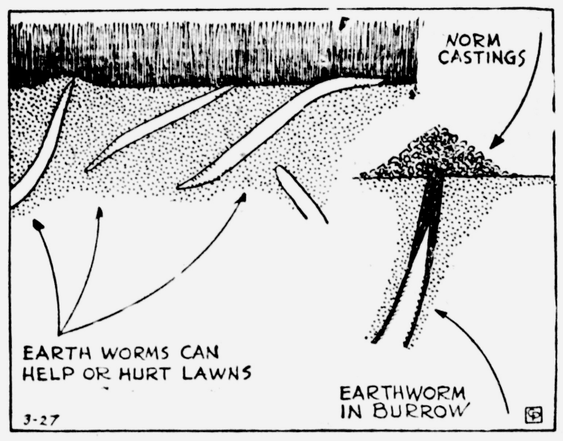
France's most pressing need is easement in the matter of food. Folk can't think rightly when they're undernourished, as is the situation with countless people in this country. Fortunately spring has brought the warmth which has been denied throughout the winter because of the shortage of fuel.

But along with food relief there must be a start in economic recovery. France must have from abroad the machinery and supplies to get her industries into action again. The chief source of these things for most of the world is, of course, the United States and so it is largely to America that France is looking.

Once a measurable start has been made in the matter of these two basic items of relief, France's illness should take a turn for the better, though recovery may be a long time in coming.

It is believed that poker is an adaptation of a Persian game, and was brought to the United States by way of New Orleans.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH



Earthworms. Friends or Enemies of Lawns?

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Association

EARTHWORMS, we know, are true "friends of the soil." By their activity they actually produce topsoil and help maintain its fertility.

But are they actually friends or enemies of lawns?

Perhaps, the best answer is to point out that although earthworms are very beneficial in helping condition soils, they make a lawn very untidy and for this reason it often is desirable to eradicate them.

Chief objection from the home owner's standpoint is that worm casts tend to make a lawn unsightly and if too abundant are apt to smother out the finer grasses.

An earthworm in its burrow, with wormcasts at the surface, and other earthworms at work under a lawn, are shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

A practical method of pest-proofing the lawn is by the use of arsenate of lead. Use five pounds to every 1,000 square feet of lawn area. Mix the arsenate of lead with sand or loam so it can be spread evenly. Use a pound of arsenate of lead to each pail of sand or loam. Apply only when the grass is absolutely dry.

After spreading the arsenate of lead, sprinkle the lawn with water thoroughly to wash the arsenate of lead off the grass blades.

The June beetle also makes piles of "castings" about the lawn. Since the June beetle has larger burrows than the earthworm, it produces larger piles of castings. Arsenate of lead is also a "cure" for June beetles.

A temporary organization of the Real Estate Board of Kingston and Vicinity was effected at a meeting of real estate men held at the Governor Clinton Hotel on December 21, 1926.

The temporary officers elected were: Nathaniel B. Gross, president; James E. Snead, vice president, and Albert N. Cook, secretary and treasurer.

The directors chosen were Frank S. Hyatt, Arthur J. Burns, Edwin L. Merritt and Sam N. Mann.

The Borst Grocery Co., who operated stores on Foxhall avenue and Cedar street, on December 15, 1926, purchased the Swart grocery on St. James street, and later opened it as an up-to-date grocery store under the management of Henry Battenfeldt, manager of the Borst chain.

Alderman C. Ray Everett was elected alderman-at-large of the Common Council at a special meeting held on December 27, 1926, to fill the vacancy caused by the elevation of Edgar J. Demsey to the mayorship.

Mayor Dempsey had been serving as acting mayor during the illness of Mayor Morris Block, and at the mayor's death in November 7, 1926, he automatically became mayor to fill out the unexpired term of Mayor Block.

Arthur Rice, for years one of the outstanding baseball players of Kingston and the Hudson river valley, on January 1, 1927, assumed his duties as sheriff of Ulster county. He had been elected to the office at the November election in 1926.

Sheriff Rice when he assumed office appointed William S. Doyle of Ellenville to the post of under sheriff.

Sheriff Rice succeeded Herman S. Wells of Ellenville.

Walter Fitzgerald on January 1, 1927, assumed his duties as a member of the Kingston police force, a post he still holds.

Leafing back the pages of the city's history to January 1, 1917, Dwight McEntee of Orchard street, was appointed to the office of deputy county treasurer by County Treasurer Philip Schantz. Mr. McEntee a few years ago was the guest of honor at a dinner held in a celebration of his serving a quarter of a century in the county treasurer's office, a post he still efficiently fills.

The Ulster County Auto Club at its meeting December 13, 1926, decided to employ a secretary to have charge of the membership and of the proposed newly inaugurated service system for the club members.

Benjamin Suskind was chosen to fill the post of secretary, and held the job for some years.

The service system the club decided to become a member of was a state-wide system and provided its members with several benefits including the selection of official garages from six to 10 miles apart, emergency towing and other features to motorists who used their cars to tour the state.

LaMonte V. Simpkins was elected president of the club; Elmer E. Swart, vice president and Ward B. Everett, treasurer. The directors elected were James F. Loughran, Dr. H. F. Meinhardt, T. D. Houghtaling, Harry P. Dederick, Elva H. Bogart and Walter L. Fales.

Amber Has Comeback

Lithuanians, who exported amber in great quantities before the war, are reviving the industry, according to Moscow advices from that republic. Amber is obtained on the Baltic coast and Lithuanian craftsmen make art objects which enjoy a worldwide reputation. Few skilled amber workers survived the German occupation but new ones are being trained and there is a new school for amber engravers. Metal and wood engravers have been invited to turn their skills to amber working and residents are searching the beaches for amber.

Yalta Agreement Looms as Most Constructive Step Taken By F. D. R. Towards Preserving Peace Through U. N. O.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 27—For the easing of the tension in the international situation today, the world has the late Franklin D. Roosevelt to thank. Only now can be seen in true perspective the urgency of the step he took at Yalta to get Russia to agree to the establishment of the United Nations Organization without waiting for the end of hostilities against either Germany or Japan.

Mr. Roosevelt paid a high price for this concession, as the records doubtless will some day show in detail, but what seemed a meaningless agreement in February 1945 suddenly looms up as the most constructive step taken throughout the war period toward the founding of an international organization to prevent another conflict.

Wilson Took Same Gamble

President Woodrow Wilson made the same kind of a gamble at Paris in 1919 but lost in the end. He though that whatever the arrangements might have to be about the peace treaty in order to satisfy the victorious governments, the League of Nations would eventually act as a reviewing body and would use its force to prevent another war. His gamble was futile, because the United States stayed out of the League and European nations made new balances of power and began new aggressions believing that America would never again help Britain and France in a world war no matter what happened in Europe.

Mr. Roosevelt knew the fate which befell Mr. Wilson's gamble. But, pressed as he was by Stalin for concessions of a material nature in other directions, the American President insisted that there must be set up at once a functioning world organization. There were influences at work in Europe which would have postponed the San Francisco conference for reasons of world politics. Fortunately, President Truman within 48 hours after taking his oath of office last April announced that the meeting at San Francisco must be held as planned.

Vandenberg Had Forethought

To the men who labored so patiently at San Francisco to make a United Nations charter, the results being witnessed today must bring considerable satisfaction. But to none will the American people feel a greater debt of gratitude than to Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, Republican, who saw to it that despite the veto-power clauses, the charter contained a proviso — innocent-looking on its face—whereby any situation involving a threat to peace could be brought before the United Nations Organization for discussion.

Today Russia would have preferred that there be no consideration of the Iran controversy at the Security Council meeting. The reason doubtless is that her clumsy diplomacy backfired and didn't work out as the Moscow diplomats had figured. They thought, of course, that pledges and agreements with reference to troop withdrawals would be ignored on the usual pretext that local conditions were disturbing. But they didn't foresee that the careless handling of the Iran episode would be regarded with so much seriousness by the members of the United Nations.

Publicity Important

It is, therefore, most fortunate that a machinery exists for the publicizing of such controversies. In times like these — especially when nations, including Russia, must retain the faith and goodwill of all mankind—it is of transcendent importance that the United States and Great Britain have brushed aside specious pleas for postponement and have argued for the fullest publicity. It is a signal to all small nations that they will not be forsaken if they but have the courage to stand by their convictions and carry their case to the U.N.O.

The whole affair is epoch-making in another sense. It will be noted that the newly appointed American ambassador to Russia, General Walter Bedell Smith, is quoted in an interview to the effect that the American people now expect Russia to operate through the United Nations. This could mean an end to side deals and private diplomacy. It could mean that all the cards must be on the table, face up—and not played in the secrecy of Yalta or such meetings as were held at Potsdam by the "Big Three." It could mean that an international constitution is working at last, with America a full-fledged partner ready to "defend the charter" with all the force at her command. Truly the progress toward prevention of war may be greater than is realized today.

SONG OF INDIA WITHOUT SOUR NOTES?

If Prime Minister Attlee and special emissary to India Sir Stafford Cripps mean what they are reported to say, India is now being offered exactly what the Indian Congress Party has been demanding for years, and exactly what Mahatma Gandhi, the Nehrus and tens of thousands of lesser Indian Nationalist have been jailed again and again and again for asking. It is what Winston Churchill and Sir Stafford Cripps himself, on occasion of the fiasco of his last trip out to India, said that the British Government would never, never grant. What India is now being offered, if we are to believe the press stories, and take the statements of English cabinet members at face value, is a pledge ring with two diamonds: (1) India can have complete independence if she prefers that to Dominion status; (2) The British will cease to back any minority in India that blocks organization for an over all government.

These are such revolutionary and astounding concessions — or recognitions of necessity—depending on your viewpoint and sympathies—that the world at large, as well as Indians, must be forgiven for asking: "What's the catch?"

Heretofore, when London has granted anything approximating the desires of the bulk of the politically awakened people of India, there has always been a "catch." The "catch" has either been British backing of some minority element of India that chose to keep the majority from functioning, or it has been some scheme to keep India paying tribute to Britain and Britishers—so large a pay-off that the price for political liberty would be economic slavery.

Right now, the pay-off would logically involve London's enormous debt to Indian government treasuries and private persons for supplies and service during the recent war, which were given on enforced credit by them, under the fancy name of "block sterling." The British can't pay in money, of course, because there isn't that much money. They say they can't pay in goods unless they get the American loan. No one can quite explain how an American credit would help London pay India, or why it should. But that's one of London's pressures to get our credit, just as the offer to free India is one of London's ways to put us in a sentimental mood to advance money.

Indian leaders of somewhat cynical turn of mind, such as Jawarhalal Nehru, adopt a "show me" attitude. Mahatma Gandhi has such a saintly willingness to believe the best about human beings that it rises again and again from the ashes of disappointment. He accepts the invitation of Lord Wavell who last jailed him, to talk things over, just as he accepted the invitation, years ago, of the then Lord Irwin, later the Lord Halifax of the Washington Embassy.

Sometime, the British must give up the overlordship of four hundred million Asiatics in India. That is evident to everyone except Winston Churchill. One of the campaign pledges of Attlee's Socialist Party, when it defeated Churchill, was that it would settle the Indian question. The withdrawal of American forces from the India-Burma theatre (only about 3,000 remain at this writing) and the ungrateful attitude of the organized Moslems of India are propelling factors. The chief excuse given by the British for having to keep the overlordship of India has for years been that they must protect the Moslem minority from the Hindu majority. But the Moslem minority has been biting the hand that "protected" them. All that the so-called Hindu majority and many Moslems, too ask is to have government in which citizens with certain educational and property qualifications shall have an equal vote. The Moslem League headed by a too-shrewd layer named Jinnah, insists that in certain large areas Moslem votes must so count that these areas become perpetually ruled by Moslem officials. He calls this Pakisthan. It would be as if our American Constitution had to be changed to provide that elected officials of New York City should always be Irish, or those of Minnesota should always be Swedes.

The other "minority" has several hundred pampered princes. Britain's protection of these petty despots is more and more glaringly inconsistent with her claim to be democratic and socialist. But even the princes have been ungrateful. If one can believe recent polls buttressed by princely statements, they are tired of being bossed around by British younger sons, and are giving British rule the jewel-studded boot.

Big things are about to happen in Asia. There is going to be more civil war over the hump from India, in China. This column said that General Marshall's mission would be a gigantic failure—which is not his fault. (At least, it got him away from the Pearl Harbor investigation quiz.)

The real story in Asia is going to be how the dictator of Russia relates himself to the people of the Moslem Belt. We'll peep into that in another article.

"Of course, Russians are Communists," she said, "but we are not 'Reds and spies' as the papers always say."

She declared that her husband had only attempted do his duty here.

March Milk Return Is $3.41 Per Hundred

New York, March 27—Dr. C. J. Blanford, New York milk market administrator, today issued his monthly forecast of price and production and estimated that dairymen will be paid a uniform price of $3.41 per hundred for March milk supplied for the metropolitan area. The estimate includes a butterfat differential of 4.8 cents for each point of fat in excess of the 3.5 per cent requirement.

The price to be supplemented by a subsidy payment of at least 70 cents to bring it to a minimum of $4.11, would be the highest for any March under the federal-state milk marketing orders. Moreover, according to Cornell University records, the total return of $4.11 would be 55 cents higher than the March 1920 record of $3.56 for milk of 3.5 per cent butterfat content.

Proposed Seaway Hit By G.O.P. in Assembly

Albany, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—The proposed St. Lawrence Seaway, backed by Governor Dewey, was condemned today by the Republican-controlled Assembly as "inimical to the best interests" of New York state.

A Democratic-sponsored resolution opposing the Seaway but backing development of the river's hydroelectric power was approved, 109-21, in the Assembly during the final hours of the 1946 session.

The Senate adjourned without acting on the resolution.

This led to a Democratic charge that Governor Dewey had ordered the measure killed in Senate Committee and that it had been held in the Assembly until it was too late for Senate action before adjournment.

U.N.O. Is Upset Over Red Attitude

against her interests unless the weight of the Council was brought to bear for a fair and just settlement.

The Iranian delegation leader, Hussein Ala, insisted last night that his government still has him under instructions to press its protests that Red Army troops have overstayed their post-war occupation limit, despite a Russian contention that a mutual agreement has been reached with Tehran and that Soviet troops are withdrawing.

Speaking outside the Council chamber, where he is a silent front row observer in the gallery, Hussein Ala said:

Insists on Protests

"I still am under instructions to protest to the United Nations Security Council the continued presence of Russian troops in Iran as well as other matters. I have been instructed by my government also to protest any postponement of prompt consideration of our case by the Council."

He did not define his reference to "other matters."

The members of the sub-committee on "procedure" to which the Iranian issue was referred are Russian Delegate Andrei Gromyko, U. S. Secretary of States James F. Byrnes and France's ambassador to Washington, Henri Bonnet.

Loses First Round

Gromkyo lost the first round in the Council session when his motion to delete the Iranian issue from the proposed agenda was defeated 9-2, Poland alone supporting Russia. Secretary-General Trygve Lie's proposed four-item agenda then was adopted with Russia and Poland again dissenting.

Having lost the first battle on procedure to majority forces led by Secretary Byrnes and Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain, Gromyko responded with a proposal that the Iranian charges be put over for discussion April 10.

The Russian delegate said he could not, before that date "participate or attend meetings of the Security Council in which the Security Council discussed the substance of matters raised by the Iranian government."

He was challenged by the Netherlands' Eelco Van Kleffens, who said: "I do not think any individual member should announce in advance that he would not take part. That is a sort of pressure."

Byrnes again argued for an immediate hearing of Iran, declaring that the Iranian delegation was present and should be given the opportunity to testify.

Must Hear Testimony

"We cannot proceed to vote on a question of postponing a matter of this kind until we give the representative of the complaining government an opportunity to be heard," Byrnes declared.

Bonnet broke up the long, heated debate with a proposal to refer the next step to a sub-committee. The vote was announced as nine for establishment of the committee, with the Netherlands and Mexican members not voting.

Before the Council in addition to the Russian proposal for postponement until April 10 are (1) A suggestion by Mahmoud Hassan Pasha of Egypt that Iran come from the gallery to the council table to make a settlement without prejudice to the question of postponement, and (2) A motion by Lt.-Col. W. R. Hodgson of Australia that the Iranian issue be retained on the agenda, that neither party take any steps to alter the present situation and that Iran submit a documented statement of its case for council consideration.

Partial to Iran, He Says

Gromyko, in the course of a day-long debate interrupted only for a late lunch, charged Byrnes and Cadogan with being "more Iranian than the Iranians, who apparently are satisfied", and declared "there is no reason for doubting the veracity of the Soviet government" in its statements of agreement with the Tehran regime.

Bidault Sees France in Role of 'Conciliator'

Paris, March 27 (AP)—Foreign Minister Georges Bidault said today that France's role at the current United Nations Security Council meeting in New York was that of "conciliator" among the United States, Russia and Britain.

He made his statement before the French Constituent Assembly's Foreign Affairs Commission, which voted approval of the action by Ambassador Henri Bonnet, head of the French delegation to the Council meeting, in asking yesterday in New York for a 24-hour postponement of the Iranian issue.

Bidault added that France still hoped the United States and Britain would agree to a diplomatic rupture with and economic sanctions against Spain.

Feed Your Dog as Many Famous Breeders Do

"..grown dogs and puppies thrive.."
Miss Jackie Walls, owner of Wallstark Kennels, 13949 DeCosta, Detroit, writes: "My kennel contains no less than 30 grown St. Bernards (English Type) at all times... I have been feeding a diet based on Kellogg's GRO-PUP to all my dogs for the past four years. Both the grown dogs and the puppies thrive on it."

MOST breeders and veterinarians use and recommend a foundation diet of good dry dog food fed with scrap meat, including fat. So many feed Kellogg's GRO-PUP because it provides all the vitamins and minerals dogs are known to need for growth and vigor.

Kellogg's GRO-PUP is thrifty. And dogs love its hearty, meaty flavor.

AIRPORT HITS FILMS

British film companies think fate is against them. All through the war they suffered a lack of studio space because all available buildings were taken over for stores. Now, after long protests, they are getting their space back, only to find that in the meantime London's great new airport, Health Row, has moved in. All the studios are within a few miles of the airport and the noise created by the engines of liners arriving and departing is so great that shooting pictures is frequently impossible.

New Paltz, Mar. 26—Huguenot Grange met in a regular meeting Saturday evening. After the business session Mrs. Robert Forshaw presented the lecture program which opened with a song by the Grange. A fire of unknown origin which started in a third floor closet of the Glardi apartment house on upper Main street did considerable damage Wednesday afternoon. The fire was discovered coming through the walls by three children who were playing in the house. The fire department was called and arrived a few minutes later to find the entire third floor completely in flames. They fought the blaze for approximately 45 minutes before they had it under control. Their efficient work held the fire to the third floor. However, considerable damage was done throughout the house by water and smoke. Earlier in the day the firemen extinguished two grass fires. One was in back of the home of Ray Terpening and another in Ohioville.

As in the past year, Mrs. Paul Benton of Normabee Farm, New Paltz, had a booth at the National Antique Show in Madison Square Garden, New York, last week. BOYS RISK STINGS

Boys are willing to risk an occasional bee sting in the interest of profits, but girls are different, according to the report of the Modern School of Beekeeping Co., near Glasgow, Scotland. The boy and girl shareholders were paid a dividend of 100 per cent on the 20-cent shares for 1945, double the return in 1944. Secretary Walter Bennett (13) said that in spite of an occasional sting boys had always been ready to look after the bees, though the girls had seldom gone near them.

Russian Is Held For Espionage

Redin of action "against the peace and dignity of the United States of America."

He said the accusations were made in Seattle on December 22, 1945, the day Redin is charged with having obtained the information. The warrant was issued last Friday.

There was no announcement of how the young Russian officer had obtained the documents and plans or whom the officer had "induced" to obtain the informatioon.

Slow Developments

Details of the arrest were slow developing. The F.B.I. at first clamped a lid both here and at Portland after the first brief announcement at 10:30 p. m. (E.S.T.) last night.

It was disclosed, however, that the ship Redin was preparing to board was the floating cannery, the SS Alma Ata, which had undergone a year-long, $2,000,000 refurnishing in the Oregon harbor. The ship had been waiting for a letter of credit to release a load of 300,000 pounds of sisal rope purchased by the Soviet government from the War Assets Corporation. The necessary papers arrived Tuesday and loading of the vessel began immediately. Agents halted the Russian officer, who came to Portland Tuesday from Seattle, as he boarded the vessel shortly after 6 p. m. Pacific Standard Time (9 p. m. E.S.T.).

Redin, who became head of the Soviet Purchasing Commission office in Seattle after the staff was curtailed at the end of the war, was described as active socially among other Russians in Seattle but little known to Americans there. His wife told Seattle reporters last night she knew nothing about the case. The couple has an infant daughter.

Had Trouble With Reporters

Seattle newsmen had a brush with Redin only 11 days ago when the tanker Puente Hills arrived with the survivors of the wreck of the Russian tanker Donbass.

The reporters swarmed aboard the ship to interview survivors and the Russian mother of a baby born aboard the Puente Hills. Redin, prominent in his Soviet uniform with starred shoulderboards, snapped an order in Russian and the women members of the Donbass crew scurried to their cabins and the men refused to talk.

He told the protesting newsmen the survivors were tired and could not be interviewed. He had boarded the vessel when it entered Puget Sound.

Main Pacific Coast officers of the Purchasing Commission were located at Portland during the war. It was from there that some $1,782,000,000 worth of lend-lease goods were shipped to the Soviet Union for the war first against Germany and finally against Japan.

One of the main projects in the $2,000,000,000 atomic bomb development is located in adjoining Washington State. It is the Mammoth Hanford Plutonium Production plant. Plutonium is the element used in the bomb.

LaGuardia Will Open Market on Broadway

Savio "Sam" T. LaGuardia is opening a new food market at 616 Broadway, next door to Cuneo's Restaurant, and plans to carry a full line of American and Italian food products such as olive oils, Italian, Riccotte and Mozzarella cheeses, Italian biscuits and pastry.

Mr. LaGuardia is a former owner of the Miniature Village Diner and Service Station on Route 9-W, two miles south of Saugerties.

After selling the Miniature Village four years ago, Mr. LaGuardia moved to this city and is making his home on Harwich street.

During World War 2, he was serving as foreman of the electrical department at the Eureka Shipbuilding Corp., in Newburgh, which was engaged in building vessels for the U. S. Navy. For a time he also engaged in the electrical contracting business in Ulster county.

Mr. LaGuardia plans to sell his products at a moderate price and will have a free delivery service. The new store will open for business within the next few days.

Two Die, 18 Injured When Truck Burns

Trenton, N. J., March 27 (AP)—Two men were killed and 18 others injured, one critically, when a truck carrying them to work caught fire on the Mt. Holly-Jobstown road near Route 39, this morning.

State police said the men were unable to attract the attention of the driver and were forced to jump from the vehicle when it caught fire. Bodies of the dead and injured littered the road for almost a half mile, police said.

Father Goes Berserk; Slashes Wife and Five Children; Baby Skulled

New York, March 27 (AP)—Police answering an urgent call for help, entered a coldwater tenement flat on the Brooklyn waterfront today and found five children and their mother and father, all badly cut, and the body of a 4-month-old baby, skull smashed, lying under a bedsheet.

Another member of the family, an 18-year-old girl, ran screaming with pain to the home of an uncle, Albert Bishop, who summoned police. Police said the girl declared her father went berserk and attacked them with knives and a hatchet.

A cap had been removed from a gas pipe and the flat was filled with gas, police added.

Police identified the father as Arthur Crehan, 40, a longshoreman. He was found on the floor of the apartment with a stab wound over the heart which police said was self-inflicted.

Two other children who were uninjured told police they were awakened by screams, saw their father striking the other children, and hid under a bed until they had an opportunity to run from the flat.

Detective James Maloney said that Crehan, before lapsing into unconsciousness, told him:

"I am sorry I have done it."

All of the injured were taken to Cumberland Hospital where the condition of each was described as critical.

Vessels Collide

New York, March 27 (AP)—The Fayetteville Victory, en route from Le Havre to New York with 917 troops, collided early today with the F. Marion Crawford but proceeded on its course after suffering no apparent damage. The vessel is due here today. The Crawford, which left New York yesterday for Antwerp, radioed shortly after the mishap that it suffered only "superficial" damage and was continuing at a "slow speed" through a "heavy rain."

ULSTER INCOME TAX BILL

The large Federal income tax returns from taxpayers in Ulster County are a reflection of healthy business conditions in the county. According to a breakdown of government figures on collections, just compiled, local taxpayers contributed more than its quota of income taxes to Uncle Sam in 1945. The local returns reached the high figure for the county of almost $23,020,000, helping to swell the total income tax returns from individuals throughout the country to a record-breaking $19,885,000,000. Slightly more than half the amount represented taxes withheld from salaries and wages.

Although tax rates were at the same level as the year before, Ulster County's returns represent an increase of seven per cent over that year. Ulster County paid .116 per cent of the nation's individual income taxes although it has only .061 per cent of the population.

The demands on taxpayers will not be as great this year. Revisions made in the Federal income tax bill, chiefly in the form of larger exemptions, are expected to remove nearly twenty-five per cent of the taxpayers from the rolls. The total collection from individuals is expected to drop about 13 per cent.

CATHOLIC CHARITIES

In a world which has up to so recently demonstrated man's capacity for inhumanity to his brother man, it is heartening to realize that, in this country at least, the war made no change in our traditional custom of caring for our less fortunate brothers. Our voluntary giving to maintain those organizations devoted to welfare and charitable work among the poor, not only continued, during the war years but increased in volume. Now as a result of the war, these organizations are faced with increased difficulties and responsibilities. Broken homes, following hasty and ill-advised wartime marriages, homeless children, aged and dependent children unable to carry on alone, youths drifting into delinquency for want of supervision—these, added to the year-in and year-out services of these organizations, make their need greater than ever.

One such agency is Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of New York. It is one of the largest and with its 186 member agencies gave care last year to more than 368,000 persons in the archdiocese, which includes Ulster County.

As in the past, this year's campaign from March 31 to April 10, is directed primarily to Catholics, but without doubt, it will find support among people of all faiths, as previous financial appeals have done.

GREAT OPPORTUNITY

One of the surest things in this present world is that no individual or group wants war now. There are individuals and groups that would like to see various adjustments made in geographical boundaries and the processes by which nations deal with each other; but in general there are, or can readily be provided, adequate means of readjusting any such wrongs or inequalities as may need attention. And fortunately there is right now, in the meeting of the United Nations Security Council in New York, the best possible means of bringing these matters to the attention of the civilized world in general.

It would be folly for statesmen to ignore such practical opportunities as have been presented for the civilized world in general, when nations are poised, so to speak, between wars, and when the world in general is so eager for peace.

Controlled access will be one of the main features of the New York State Thruway System. Vehicles will be permitted to enter and leave it only at specially designed points.

Recent events unfortunately add some support to the English philosopher Bertrand Russell's statement that a lot of people would rather be dead than rational.

Some people are hopelessly old-fashioned. They still think thrift is a virtue.

EIGHT-MAN SUPREME COURT

The prolonged absence of Mr. Justice Jackson from the United States does this country no good. As the prosecutor of senile Nazis, Mr. Jackson may be exercising considerable legalistic ingenuity, but the Supreme Court calendar is loaded with cases that have to wait until it is possible again to have 5-4 decisions. Apparently 4-4 decisions are no good. The court can, of course, function if it has a 5-3 decision or a 6-2 decision.

But when the court divides evenly, the unfortunate American involved in the case has to wait until Mr. Justice Jackson gets through with Goering, Hess, et al. Perhaps he will then come home and, as the New York State Bar Association suggests, cease to deprive the justices "of the learning and work" of the absent member.

The Supreme Court is usually honored among Americans as a body apart from the whirl and worry of immediate politics. It is supposed to be aloof. Appointment to the Supreme Court has been regarded as the highest honor that can come to a lawyer, and Presidents usually have avoided appointing to the court lawyers who would bestow no honor upon it.

Mr. Roosevelt took Mr. Justice Roberts from the bench to investigate Pearl Harbor. Mr. Roberts's report has been a subject of controversy since he issued it. The congressional investigation of the Pearl Harbor farrago gave the impression either that Mr. Justice Roberts was a nodding investigator or that he placed the will of the President above the full and precise truth.

Then Mr. Justice Byrnes found the bench tiresome, so Mr. Roosevelt took him off and made him the head of one of those controversial "O" administrative bodies which confused us during the war and since. Finally, Mr. Byrnes landed the post of secretary of state, having failed to become vice president.

So, Mr. Jackson was taken off the bench to become a Nazi prosecutor under a juridical theory of collective guilt, alien to the American concept of the rights and dignity of the individual man. It is a pity because Mr. Justice Jackson is a lawyer of quality who will all his life have to live down the very bad law of Nuremberg. Some Americans, Republicans, Communists, generals and admirals will fear to appear before Mr. Jackson lest he apply some of the curious doctrines and procedures he employs at Nuremberg to them. And meanwhile Americans are waiting to have their business attended to while Goering and Jackson quarrel over questions that concern us as little as whether Stalin or Trotsky was the lesser Marxist.

The New York Bar Association asks a few pertinent questions on the subject:

"Is it not desirable, also, that a man who accepts appointment to the Supreme Court be required to lay aside every other ambition? If a judge is dreaming of future offices, is not his judgment likely to be impaired—human nature being what it is? Is it too much to ask of a lawyer, who takes his place upon that exalted bench, that he not again hold public office? Pension is available for the retired justice; and, of course, a justice should be entitled, if he quits the bench, to practice law. But would it be too much to ask, in the interests of the highest standards of the judiciary, that he look not to other office during or after his services on the Supreme Court?

The questions are not at all bad. They might be answered by several justices now on the bench. For instance, every time a top job in Washington is opened up by somebody being kicked out, a ferocious propaganda is hurled at the American people for Mr. Justice Douglas to get the job.

It is because of all this that the aforesaid Bar Association proposes this amendment to the Constitution:

"No justice of the Supreme Court of the United States shall during his term hold any other public office or perform any other function in behalf of the federal government, or of any state or other governmental entity; nor shall he after his term hold any public office or perform any function in behalf of the federal government, or of any state or other governmental entity."

MIGRAINE

I write often about migraine — one-sided headache — because there are so many men and women suffering with this prostrating illness — one-sided headache, nausea, and vomiting. Though the cause is unknown treatment by ergotamine tartrate or by breathing in 100 per cent oxygen brings relief in the great majority of cases.

Most physicians attribute the cases they encounter to mental and physical tiredness (neurasthenia), and advise complete rest in a quiet and dark room.

Several months ago I spoke of the excellent results obtained by Drs. Stuyvesant Butler and William A. Thomas, by use of histamine into a vein in the treatment of Meniere's disease. They felt that as Menieres disease resembles migraine so much—dizziness, nausea, vomiting, partial loss of hearing—that as histamine helped Menieres it might help migraine. Of 34 patients treated by the injection of histamine into a vein, 24 were cured (kept free of symptoms) and 7 improved.

Before calling a case genuine migraine Drs. Butler and Thomas made sure that all the outstanding symptoms were present with no symptoms whatever between attacks. They also stated that there is often a family history of allergy especially to certain foods such as chocolate.

That the family history is important in the treatment of migraine is pointed out by Dr. Walter Alvarez, Mayo Clinic in Rhode Island Medical Journal. "The woman with migraine headaches does not need a thorough medical overhauling. One never finds the cause of migraine by any amount of searching throughout the body. The cause is a hereditary predisposition; the attack is a sort of storm which takes place in an oversensitive brain.

Time should be spent in talking over their life problems and showing them how to live more calmly and happily."

The thought then is that these over ambitious individuals, mostly women, should learn to take life's problems in their stride, that first things should come first in life.

It has been estimated that there are more persons with constipation than there are without it. For information on this subject send today for Dr. Barton's helpful booklet entitled "Constipation." Go Ahead And Kick Him--

The World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(AP World Traveler)

Paris, March 26 — A distinguished Frenchman remarked to me during a dinner conversation that his country is very ill and that he believes the other western Allies should treat her accordingly—that is, with firmness when she is unreasonable, and with material aid when she needs it.

This line has kept running through my mind so persistently that I finally decided to incorporate it here. Probably it has stuck with me because I'm sure from my own observations that my friends' diagnosis is correct. Whether his prescription is right is something to be determined by the Allied governments.

Apropos of this, one notes that former Governor Harold Stassen in his New York speech asked Americans that they "promptly extend credits under proper terms to those who seriously need them, which includes England, France, Greece and Russia."

I've stressed the point of France's illness in previous articles, but her position is so serious that it can't be overemphasized. It's grave, not only for her but for the world at large, because this important country is as vital to global well-being as is your arm to your body.

France's case is rendered especially grave by complications. As this column previously has reported, she is ill economically, politically and spiritually. She was sickening when Hitler loosed his blitzkreig, and the shock of her frightful defeat, coupled with the Hell of the Nazi occupation, led to the present crisis—for crisis it is.

Needs Moral Support

My French friend of the dinner conversation is right when he says his country needs moral as well as material help. She isn't the France of old. The general public is bewildered and is increasingly inclined to experiment with political nostrum in the hope of finding relief.

Then there's another element entering into the situation, and that is injured pride. What else could be expected in the case of a nation which so long was one of the world's dominant powers? France finds it hard to accept the change brought by the Hitlerian conquest, and this has been responsible for many of her international political moves which haven't found favor in the eyes of all the Allies. She is fighting to retrieve her former position.

Recovery a Long Haul

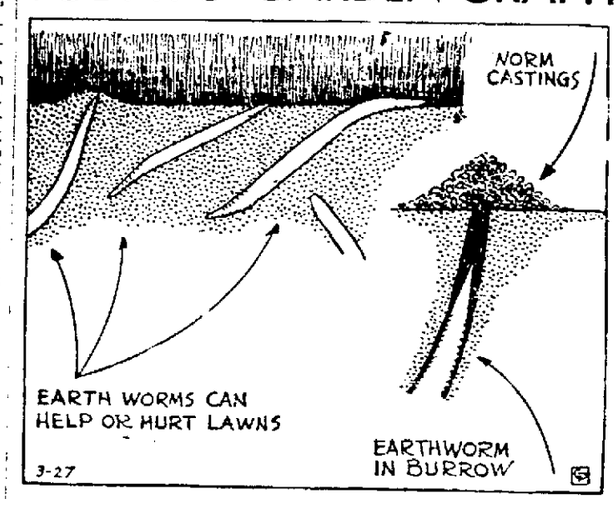
France's most pressing need is easement in the matter of food. Folk can't think rightly when they're undernourished, as is the situation with countless people in this country. Fortunately spring has brought the warmth which has been denied throughout the winter because of the shortage of fuel.

But along with food relief there must be a start in economic recovery. France must have from abroad the machinery and supplies to get her industries into action again. The chief source of these things for most of the world is, of course, the United States and so it is largely to America that France is looking.

Once a measurable start has been made in the matter of these two basic items of relief, France's illness should take a turn for the better, though recovery may be a long time in coming.

It is believed that poker is an adaptation of a Persian game, and was brought to the United States by way of New Orleans.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH



Earthworms. Friends or Enemies of Lawns?

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Released by Central Press Association

EARTHWORMS, we know, are true "friends of the soil." By their activity they actually produce topsoil and help maintain its fertility.

But are they actually friends or enemies of lawns?

Perhaps the best answer is to point out that although earthworms are very beneficial in keeping condition soils, they make a lawn very untidy and for this reason it often is desirable to eradicate them.

Chief objection from the home owner's standpoint is that worm casts tend to make a lawn unsightly and if too abundant are apt to smother out the finer grasses.

An earthworm in its burrow, with wormcasts at the surface, and other earthworms at work under a lawn, are shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

A practical method of pest-proofing the lawn is by the use of arsenate of lead. Use five pounds to every 1,000 square feet of lawn area. Mix the arsenate of lead with sand or loam so it can be spread evenly. Use a pound of arsenate of lead to each foot of sand or loam. Apply only when the grass is absolutely dry.

After spreading the arsenate of lead, sprinkle the lawn with water thoroughly to wash the arsenate of lead off the grass blades.

The June beetle also makes piles of "castings" about the lawn. Since the June beetle has larger burrows than the earthworm, it produces larger piles of castings. Arsenate of lead is also a "cure" for June beetles.

A temporary organization of the Real Estate Board of Kingston and Vicinity was effected at a meeting of real estate men held at the Governor Clinton Hotel on December 21, 1926.

The temporary officers elected were: Nathaniel B. Gross, president; James E. Snead, vice president, and Albert N. Cook, secretary and treasurer.

The directors chosen were Frank S. Hyatt, Arthur J. Burns, Edwin L. Merritt and Sam N. Mann.

The Borst Grocery Co., who operated stores on Foxhall avenue and Cedar street, on December 15, 1926, purchased the Swart grocery on St. James street, and later opened it as an up-to-date grocery store under the management of Henry Battenfeldt, manager of the Borst chain.

Alderman C. Ray Everett was elected alderman-at-large of the Common Council at a special meeting held on December 27, 1926, to fill the vacancy caused by the elevation of Edgar J. Demsey to the mayorship.

Mayor Dempsey had been serving as acting mayor during the illness of Mayor Morris Block, and at the mayor's death in November 7, 1926, he automatically became mayor to fill out the unexpired term of Mayor Block.

Arthur Rice, for years one of the outstanding baseball players of Kingston and the Hudson river valley, on January 1, 1927, assumed his duties as sheriff of Ulster county. He had been elected to the office at the November election in 1926.

Sheriff Rice when he assumed office appointed William S. Doyle of Ellenville to the post of under sheriff.

Sheriff Rice succeeded Herman S. Wells of Ellenville.

Walter Fitzgerald on January 1, 1927, assumed his duties as a member of the Kingston police force, a post he still holds.

Leafing back the pages of the city's history to January 1, 1917, Dwight McEntee of Orchard street, was appointed to the office of deputy county treasurer by County Treasurer Philip Schantz. Mr. McEntee a few years ago was the guest of honor at a dinner held in a celebration of his serving a quarter of a century in the county treasurer's office, a post he still efficiently fills.

The Ulster County Auto Club at its meeting December 13, 1926, decided to employ a secretary to have charge of the membership and of the proposed newly inaugurated service system for the club members.

Benjamin Stickland was chosen to fill the post of secretary, and held the job for some years.

The service system the club decided to become a member of was a state-wide system and provided its members with several benefits including the selection of official garages from six to 10 miles apart, emergency towing and other features to motorists who used their cars to tour the state.

LaMonte V. Simpkins was elected president of the club, Elmer E. Swart, vice president and Ward B. Everett, treasurer. The directors elected were James F. Loughran, Dr. H. F. Meinhardt, T. D. Houghtaling, Harry P. Frederick, Elva H. Bogart and Walter L. Fales.

Amber Has Comeback

Yalta Agreement Looms as Most Constructive Step Taken By F. D. R. Towards Preserving Peace Through U. N. O.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 27—For the easing of the tension in the international situation today, the world has the late Franklin D. Roosevelt to thank. Only now can be seen in true perspective the urgency of the step he took at Yalta to get Russia to agree to the establishment of the United Nations Organization without waiting for the end of hostilities against either Germany or Japan.

Mr. Roosevelt paid a high price for this concession, as the records doubtless will some day show in detail, but what seemed a meaningless agreement in February 1945 suddenly looms up as the most constructive step taken throughout the war period toward the founding of an international organization to prevent another conflict.

Wilson Took Same Gamble

President Woodrow Wilson made the same kind of a gamble at Paris in 1919 but lost in the end. He though that whatever the arrangements might have to be about the peace treaty in order to satisfy the victorious governments, the League of Nations would eventually act as a reviewing body and would use its force to prevent another war. His gamble was futile, because the United States stayed out of the League and European nations made new balances of power and began new aggressions believing that America would never again help Britain and France in a world war no matter what happened in Europe.

Mr. Roosevelt knew the fate which befell Mr. Wilson's gamble. But, pressed as he was by Stalin for concessions of a material nature in other directions, the American President insisted that there must be set up at once a functioning world organization. There were influences at work in Europe which would have postponed the San Francisco conference for reasons of world politics. Fortunately, President Truman within 48 hours after taking his oath of office last April announced that the meeting at San Francisco must be held as planned.

Vandenberg Had Forethought

To the men who labored so patiently at San Francisco to make a United Nations charter, the results being witnessed today must bring considerable satisfaction. But to none will the American people feel a greater debt of gratitude than to Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, Republican, who saw to it that despite the veto-power clauses, the charter contained a proviso — innocent-looking on its face—whereby any situation involving a threat to peace could be brought before the United Nations Organization for discussion.

Today Russia would have preferred that there be no consideration of the Iran controversy at the Security Council meeting. The reason doubtless is that her clumsy diplomacy backfired and didn't work out as the Moscow diplomats had figured. They thought, of course, that pledges and agreements with reference to troop withdrawals would be ignored on the usual pretext that local conditions were disturbing. But they didn't foresee that the careless handling of the Iran episode would be regarded with so much seriousness by the members of the United Nations.

Publicity Important

It is, therefore, most fortunate that a machinery exists for the publicizing of such controversies. In times like these — especially when nations, including Russia, must retain the faith and goodwill of all mankind—it is of transcendent importance that the United States and Great Britain have brushed aside specious pleas for postponement and have argued for the fullest publicity. It is a signal to all small nations that they will not be forsaken if they but have the courage to stand by their convictions and carry their case to the U.N.O.

The whole affair is epoch-making in another sense. It will be noted that the newly appointed American ambassador to Russia, General Walter Bedell Smith, is quoted in an interview to the effect that the American people now expect Russia to operate through the United Nations. This could mean an end to side deals and private diplomacy. It could mean that all the cards must be on the table, face up—and not played in the secrecy of Yalta or such meetings as were held at Potsdam by the "Big Three." It could mean that an international constitution is working at last, with America a full-fledged partner ready to "defend the charter" with all the force at her command. Truly the progress toward prevention of war may be greater than is realized today.

SONG OF INDIA WITHOUT SOUR NOTES?

If Prime Minister Attlee and special emissary to India Sir Stafford Cripps mean what they are reported to say, India is now being offered exactly what the Indian Congress Party has been demanding for years, and exactly what Mahatma Gandhi, the Nehrus and tens of thousands of lesser Indian Nationalist have been jailed again and again and again for asking. It is what Winston Churchill and Sir Stafford Cripps himself, on occasion of the fiasco of his last trip out to India, said that the British Government would never, never grant. What India is now being offered, if we are to believe the press stories, and take the statements of English cabinet members at face value, is a pledge ring with two diamonds: (1) India can have complete independence if she prefers that to Dominion status; (2) The British will cease to back any minority in India that blocks organization for an over all government.

These are such revolutionary and astounding concessions — or recognitions of necessity—depending on your viewpoint and sympathies—that the world at large, as well as Indians, must be forgiven for asking: "What's the catch?"

Heretofore, when London has granted anything approximating the desires of the bulk of the politically awakened people of India, there has always been a "catch." The "catch" has either been British backing of some minority element of India that chose to keep the majority from functioning, or it has been some scheme to keep India paying tribute to Britain and Britishers—so large a pay-off that the price for political liberty would be economic slavery.

Right now, the pay-off would [illegible] London's enormous debt to Indian government treasuries and private persons for supplies and service during the recent war, which were given on enforced credit by them, under the fancy name of "block sterling." The British can't pay in money, of course, because there isn't that much money. They say they can't pay in goods unless they get the American loan. No one can quite explain how an American credit would help London pay India, or why it should. But that's one of London's pressures to get our credit, just as the offer to free India is one of London's ways to put us in a sentimental mood to advance money.

Indian leaders of somewhat cynical turn of mind, such as Jawaharlal Nehru, adopt a "show me" attitude. Mahatma Gandhi has such a saintly willingness to believe the best about human beings that it rises again and again from the ashes of disappointment. He accepts the invitation of Lord Wavell who last jailed him, to talk things over, just as he accepted the invitation, years ago, of the then Lord Irwin, later the Lord Halifax of the Washington Embassy.

Sometime, the British must give up the overlordship of four hundred million Asiatics in India. That is evident to everyone except Winston Churchill. One of the campaign pledges of Attlee's Socialist Party, when it defeated Churchill, was that it would settle the Indian question. The withdrawal of American forces from the India-Burma theatre (only about 3,000 remain at this writing) and the ingrained attitude of the organized Moslems of India are propelling factors. The chief excuse given by the British for having to keep the overlordship of India has for years been that they must protect the Moslem minority from the Hindu majority. But the Moslem minority has been biting the hand that "protected" them. All that the so-called Hindu majority and many Moslems, too, ask is to have government in which citizens with certain educational and property qualifications shall have an equal vote. The Moslem League headed by a too-shrewd lawyer named Jinnah, insists that in certain large areas Moslem votes must so count that these areas become perpetually ruled by Moslem officials. He calls this Pakisthan. It would be as if our American Constitution had to be changed to provide that elected officials of New York City should always be Irish, or those of Minnesota should always be Swedes.

The other "minority" has several hundred pampered princes. Britain's protection of these petty despots is more and more glaringly inconsistent with her claim to be democratic and socialist. But even the princes have been ungrateful. If one can believe recent polls buttressed by princely statements, they are tired of being bossed around by British younger sons, and are giving British rule the jewel-studded boot.

Big things are about to happen in Asia. There is going to be more civil war over the hump from India, in China. This column said that General Marshall's mission would be a gigantic failure—which is not his fault. (At least, it got him away from the Pearl Harbor investigation quiz.)

The real story in Asia is going to be how the dictator of Russia relates himself to the people of the Moslem Belt. We'll peep into that in another article.

Zionists Will Meet With B'nai B'rith To Hear Guest Speaker

The regular meeting of B'nai B'rith, to be held tonight, will feature an annual event in which B'nai B'rith plays host to the Kingston Zionist District. The program will be one of general Zionist information and interest. Dr. Sidney Marks of Washington, D. C., will be the speaker. Dr. Marks, although still a young man, has already achieved outstanding national recognition in his election to the post of executive secretary of the Zionist Organization of America. The meeting is scheduled to start at 8 p. m. at the B'nai B'rith building on Wall street.

At a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Kingston Zionist District, under the chairmanship of Abraham Streifer, it was decided to streamline and intensify the activities of the district. The following three standing committees were designated to further the work of Kingston Zionism in conjunction with the executive committee: Public relations, Arthur E. Ewig, chairman; William Chazanof, Rabbi Frank Plotke and Abraham Streifer; membership, Louis Schwartz, chairman, Joseph Pauker and Ben Silverman; finance, Herman Rafalowsky and Harry Streifer.

Programs of wide interest are planned for future Zionist meetings.

The Misses Quimby Are Hostesses to Lowell Club

The Misses Anna and May Quimby were hostesses at their home on Wilson avenue to the final program meeting of Lowell Literary Club Tuesday afternoon. The next meeting, April 12, will be the annual meeting where reports will be given and election of officers will be held. Mrs. O. D. B. Ingalls will be hostess at her home in Hurley.

Mrs. H. L. A. Fick gave the paper for the day on "People." She based her remarks on Emery Reeves' book, "The Anatomy of Peace." The idea stressed was that peace can prevail only when international relationships are governed by law and regulated by treaties. Reeves believes peace is possible to achieve but none of the methods used so far have succeeded. He suggests an international government which will govern relations between nations just as the federal laws govern the states' relations. The democratic way of life, freedom for the individual is right for all but that freedom must be controlled by law.

Individual freedom must not infringe upon the freedom of society, Mrs. Fick explained in her paper. The only way to prevent war was noted as granting to all peoples equal rights, opportunities, according to fixed laws. Mankind, everywhere, shares some common feelings or emotions such as in music, religious urge or even in silence. Reeves thinks the problem of people is social and political not a technical one. "Peace is still based on law and the task today is to make possible this unified control."

Castle Point Men Ask For Craft Instructions As Groups Visit Them

Groups from Kingston who are visiting Castle Point Veteran Hospital quite often now, find many of the patients doing handicraft work. Knitting, crocheting and tatting are among the favorite pastimes and patients are asking for more books of instructions, needles and materials. Samples of the different stitches will also be appreciated. Mrs. Edward Leonard sent several tatted curtain pulls to one of them. From these he has created several other designs. Another young man proudly modeled a light blue cable-stitch sweater which he has just completed.

Other patients make leather wallets and cigarette cases. Some are becoming proficient in making monogrammed plastic bracelets. Miss Evelyn Auchmoody usually has a box of these on display for sale at the Grand Union store.

Monday evening, Theodore Gallop, vice commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Joyce-Schirick Post, drove a party including his mother, Sophie Miller, John Brice and Major Sol Till to the hospital. One of the patients was interested in repairing watches and talked with Mr. Gallop. Major Till, who recently received his discharge and is now residing at the Governor Clinton Hotel, talked with the men and compared their work with what he had seen at other army hospitals.

Another group including Miss Alice M. Scardefield, treasurer of the Grand Chapter of Eastern Stars of the State of New York; Mrs. Jesse D. Barnhart, matron of Clinton Chapter, Mrs. Kenneth Haines, an officer of Clinton Chapter and Sophie Miller drove to the hospital last week taking a large number of cigarettes donated by the Eastern Stars and magazines given by Mrs. B. D. Wolff of Adams street. They were escorted through the wards and found the patients asking especially for cigarettes since their allowances were quite small. There is a roaming canteen wagon with samples of almost everything in the first floor canteen. From the wagon the bed patients are able to select what they wish.

The Eastern Stars also made arrangements to take their popular minstrel show to the hospital April 17. The show has been given three times in Kingston.

UNKINDNESS SURELY UNINTENTIONAL

Unhappily all situations in this postwar world are not as pleasant as we would like them to be. For example this letter asks, "Have you a suggestion for me in this situation? I associate with persons of many different nationalities and religions but neither difference has in the past come between me and my friends. My husband's friends, however, are so lacking in manners and tact that they constantly tread on my toes by making unkind remarks about the people of a country who was America's ally during the war, though they know that my parents were born there. I do not wish to offend my husband's friends, but I am made very unhappy. What can I do to give them a hint of their discourtesy?"

I think the best thing would be to tell them quite frankly, "I am sure you don't realize you are talking about the people of my family's native land, and that you make them and me very sad."

Hat Off In The Evening

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to the home of my sister-in-law to a family dinner. Is is proper and advisable for me to wear my hat during the dinner and the rest of the evening? And would your answer be the same if it were lunch instead of dinner?

Answer: It is not at all proper to wear your hat in the evening. It is entirely proper to wear it in the daytime whenever you feel like it.

Leaving Him Behind Unthinkable

Dear Mrs. Post: I am engaged and am the only one in the family expecting to be married soon. When we, as a family group, are invited somewhere to a party, don't you think people also should invite my fiance? If they don't, would it be proper for me to ask whether I might have him come with us?

Answer: Of course!

Day Or Evening

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please explain the difference between (1) a daytime dress with a long skirt, (2) a dinner dress and (3) an evening dress.

Answer: The difference is in the material. Home-spun, cotton, wool dark (2) colors—daytime. (2) silk, lame, lace, etc.—evening. (3) Same as with cut-out back or front sleeveless and possibly all three.

Golf Officials Predict Boom in Local Sport for 1946 Season

Wiltwyck to Open This Week; May 1 For Twaalfskill

Renovations Are Planned for Both Clubs; Tommy Danaher Is Returning to Wiltwyck Greens

Kingston's two golf courses—Twaalfskill and Wiltwyck—will keep abreast of the postwar sports and recreational boom with elaborate plans and tournaments for the forthcoming season, it was learned yesterday.

President Roy Sutliff of Twaalfskill, the oldest course in the region, predicted a record-breaking season for his club, while Dwight McEntee, Sr., of Wiltwyck, was equally enthusiastic about prospects for the uptown course.

Busy Schedule Ahead

Plans for inter-club, local and regional tournaments have not been officially formulated at the present, but the pros at both organizations are expected to keep their members busy with real competition throughout the 1946 campaign.

Twaalfskill plans elaborate renovations and improvements both to its club and course facilities. Mr. Sutliff said the definite plans would be announced in a few days.

Two veteran pros—both extremely popular with their constituents—Walter Thiel and Tommy Danaher, will be back on the local scene.

Thiel, who served as Twaalfskill pro for many years, prior to his entry in service, is at the course daily shaping plans for the future. During the war he earned a measure of fame for building a golf course in a remote sector of India and maintained close contact with the game.

Frank Ball on Staff

Working with Thiel will be Frank Ball, former international competitor who came to the United States several years ago with a British Walker Cup team and never returned to his native England. Mr. Ball served Twaalfskill during Thiel's absence, but proved so popular that the directors of Twaalfskill have invited him to join the staff.

Tom Danaher, who succeeded Frank Shimek as Wiltwyck pro several years ago, is due in Kingston Sunday from Florida and will have a batch of new plans to announce at that time. Like Twaalfskill, the Wiltwyck directors also have planned many improvements both in the course and clubhouse.

Get in Early Licks

The spring-like weather of last week-end brought out duffers and experts in large droves, but the official opening for Twaalfskill has been set for May 1. The Wiltwyck course opens officially this week-end, weather permitting.

Twaalfskill expects to reach its highest membership in history this season, with several ex-servicemen in the fold. The number of paid members is now approximately 70, but will exceed that total by a wide margin when final returns are in.

Mr. Sutliff along with Judge John M. Cashin and other officials are enthusiastic about the forthcoming season and its possibilities.

"This is the first postwar year," they said, "and we feel that golf will boom just as the other sports. The people are relaxed for the first time in several years and they are going to turn to sports. Golf certainly will play a big part in the overall picture."

Roy Sutliff heads the Twaalfskill Board of Directors and is an able sparkplug to keep his club in the spotlight throughout the 1946 season.

Other members of the Board of Directors are Judge Cashin, G. Wallace Codwise, James A. Dwyer, Thomas W. Flemming, Harry R. Le Fevre, vice-president, J. Richard Miller, Edward H. Remmert, John J. Van Gonsic, and John D. Schoonmaker, Jr., who is secretary-treasurer.

Bob Herzog is chairman of the House Committee. Plans are in the making for a gala opening function, but details remain to be worked out at the next meeting of the Board.

More Plans Coming

Dues at Twaalfskill are $60 yearly for resident men golfers and $25 for resident women; $30 for non-resident men and $20 for non-resident women. Social memberships are available for $10 per season but do not carry golf or club privileges.

Detailed information regarding the Wiltwyck Club plans will be announced by Tommy Danaher this week-end.

Meanwhile continued excellent weather is expected to bring out Kingston's formidable army of mashie wielders in full force this week-end. Neither of the two local courses is set up for actual competition, but that will not be a deterrent to the duffers and pros. For who is crazier than a real golf bug?

Elizabeth, N. J.—Aaron Perry, 153½, Washington, knocked out Jiggs Donahue, 157½, Philadelphia, (3).

Giants Ink Kennedy

Miami, Fla., March 27 (AP)—Convinced that Monty Kennedy, 23-year old southpaw hurler, has great possibilities despite his wildness, the New York Giants have bought him for $25,000 from the Richmond Colts of the Piedmont League. The rookie has been with the Giants all through the training period on a trial basis. He'll probably be sent to the New Yorkers' Jersey City International League farm for more seasoning.

Stirnweiss Hit

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 27 (AP)—With Joe Gordan on the sidelines with an injured hand, the New York Yankees had a big scare yesterday when Snuffy Stirnweiss, their able third baseman was struck in the mouth by a grounder. The injury didn't prove sérious and Snuffy, recently converted to a third baseman, is expected to see action against Brooklyn today.

Operation for Wilks

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 27 (AP)—St. Louis Cardinal pitcher Ted Wilks will have his tonsils removed before the Redbirds leave St. Petersburg, says Manager Eddie Dyer. After X-raying Wilks' arm a physician expressed the opinion the hurler's painful elbow was due to infected tonsils.

After New Streak

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 27 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics were hoping to start a new winning streak at the expense of the New York Giants in Miami today. The International League Toronto Maple Leafs snapped the A's latest winning skein at five yesterday.

Dodgers Spurn Bids

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 27 (AP)—Brooklyn Dodger players disclosed today they had recently rejected offers to jump the National Leaguers and sign with the Mexican League. The four, Cookie Lavagetto, Mike Sandlock, Herman Franks and Johnny Rizzo, said they were offered three-year contracts by agents of the Mexican loop at the Dodgers' camp in Daytona Beach. The Brooks are here to meet the New York Yanks today. Lavagetto said he spurned a contract calling for a total of $30,000 for the three years.

Aggies Score 43-40 Victory Over North Carolina Tarheels

Only School to Capture NCAA Cage Crown Two Years in Succession; Kurland Gets 23

New York, March 27 (AP)—Hank Iba, 42-year-old coach of the only school to win the N.C.A.A. basketball crown two straight years, believes his present Oklahoma A. and M. aggregation is even better than his "dream" five of last year which won the N.C.A.A. title and went on to defeat DePaul for the national championship.

In vanquishing a strong North Carolina quintet 43-40 at Madison Square Garden last night before 18,479 fans, the Aggies scored their 15th consecutive conquest and closed the season with a record of 31 victories in 33 games.

643 Points for Season

Seven-foot Bob Kurland provided a majority of the points. The redhaired giant center hooped 23 to raise his season record total to 643 points. His 72 point total in three N.C.A.A. clashes not only earned him the award as the outstanding player in the tournament, but enabled him to pass Elmore Morganthaler of New Mexico Mines as the nation's top collegiate scorer.

"This team as a whole is better than the cagers I had a year ago," Iba, just concluding his 19th year as a court mentor, added, "it is more solid. While my 1945 champions were a higher scoring outfit, they were not as good on defense. Also this is a better clutch team, it will get those points when the chips are down."

Firemen Outscore Kerhonkson, 40-30

Charlie Williams Scores 14 for Winners

The High Falls Firemen, with Charlie Williams, sharpshooting forward leading the way, scored a 40 to 30 victory over the strong Kerhonkson High School team last week. High Falls took an early lead, led at the half by 22-15, and was never headed. Williams was the big gun in the triumph with his 14 points. Van Vliet of Kerhonkson dropped in 13.

In the preliminary attraction the Kingston High School juniors downed the High Falls Juniors by 28 to 18. Halstein led the winners with 15 markers. Davenport and Smith each tossed in five tallies for the losers.

Next Saturday two important games are slated for the High Falls teams and all proceeds of the contests will go to the Disabled Veterans fund. A large turnout is expected.

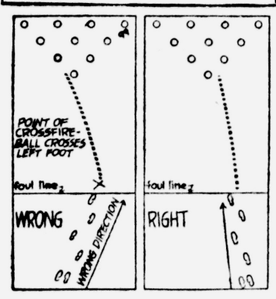
Better Bowling

By Billy Sixty



CROSS-FIRE BALL: The other day a G.I., recently returned from four years of service and getting a fresh start in bowling, was having trouble keeping the ball on the right side of the head pin.

His footwork was good. The timing of his stride and the swinging ball was excellent. He got to the foul line smoothly, and he released the ball easily.

But it was a cross-fire delivery. He did the opposite of what he was supposed to do. He should have taken his stance a little to the right of the center of the alley. His run then would have been in a straight line to permit his arm to swing out on a straight line for the desired direction.

Instead, he shifted farther and farther to the left side of the alley.

His next move—a natural mistake—was to run toward the right hand gutter. Instinctively he felt that ball and left foot would clash at the point of delivery, which also would be natural, so he hurried the swing.

Here was CROSS-FIRE at the line, the feet going to the right, the ball released quickly to the left—across the head pin.

The correction was simple—merely moving toward the RIGHT HAND gutter and striding to the line STRAIGHT.

Syracuse Bowlers Roll 1298; Move Into Second Place

Buffalo, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—John Rutkowski, a kegler of international fame, and Joseph Bruzdzinski, both of Syracuse, teamed to take over second place yesterday in the doubles competition of the American Bowling Congress with a score of 1298.

The 41-year-old Rutkowski, winner of the German National individual title, shot 675 yesterday on games of 194, 224 and 257, Bruzdzinski, 38, contributed 623 on a 245-189-188 series.

Western New York booster squads will predominate in tonight's competition. A scattering of teams from Pennsylvania, Michigan, Illinois and Ohio also was scheduled.

Big Entry Field Is Due For Rec Bowling Classic

Third Annual Tourney, 100% Five-Man Team Affair, Will Open on April 13

Entry blanks for the third annual Central Recreation Bowling Classic, a 100 per cent five-man team handicap tournament, are now available at the Railroad avenue bowling emporium. Entries close on April 7, with the tournament scheduled the week-ends of April 13-14 and April 20-21.

First prize will be $200 this season, or double what it paid last year. There are five team places and other awards to be announced later.

100 Per Cent Handicap

Teams will be handicapped 100 per cent off 1,000 on the basis of up-to-date averages. Thus a team with an 800-average would receive 200 pins a game, or 600 for the series.

Past performances have proved that the lower teams are strictly in the driver's seat in this type of competition.

Any combination of five bowlers can compete in the tournament, but the team name must be registered with the American Bowling Congress. The event is sanctioned by the A.B.C. and any scores eligible for national awards will be protected by the sanction.

Big Entry Field Opined

John Ferraro and John Sangi, Central Recration alley proprietors, are confident the entry list for the 1946 tourney will exceed by a wide margin the 100 entry of last season. Entries are beginning to come in from every bowling center in the mid-Hudson area from Albany to Nyack.

No team or bowler will be permitted to compete more than once in this tournament. All out-of-town averages must be certified by the secretary of the city association from which the entry emanates.

Detailed rules and conditions governing the tournament will be found on the entry blanks.

No Opponent Yet

New York, March 27 (AP)—Whether the Red Cross benefit basketball show will be staged in Madison Square Garden Thursday night depended today on ability of the promoters to obtain an opponent for the Phillips 66 Oilers, National A.A.U. champions from Bartlesville, Okla. The U. S. Army's First Division five originally was scheduled to meet the Oilers but the European theatre champions, stationed in Munich, Germany, sent word yesterday they wouldn't be able to arrive in time.

Will Broadcast Fight

WJZ-A.B.C. sportscasters Don Dunphy and Bill Corum will describe the 10-round non-title bout at Madison Square Garden between new welterweight champion, Marty Servo, and Rocky Graziano, Friday, March 29, at 10 o'clock.

In The Pocket with CHARLIE TIANO

The 10-year high average contest of the A.B.C. is one of tenpin's most spectacular contests. An exacting test, it runs over a period of ten consecutive ABC tournaments. The distance is a maximum of 90 games, 9 of which are rolled annually in the all-events of the Congress' spring classic.

This is where the men are separated from the women and children. Home town averages of 220 or thereabouts don't mean much in the white heat of A.B.C. competition. The trundlers up in the 10-year parade are the cream of the nation's crop. No bowler has lived until he competes in the A.B.C. and no bowler appreciates the sovereignty of the 10-year average than one who has gone through tourney after tourney.

Current leader is John Crimmins, the Detroit Goliath, the man with ice water in his veins. For the last 90 games, Long John has batted out a 203.38 average. A close second is Ned Day, four-time national match champion who sports 203.12. Our old friend, Andy Varipapa, Brooklyn's famous trick shot artist, ranks third with 202.63. Andy has the further distinction of the highest life-time A.B.C. average.

Tony Sparando, who recently defeated Johnny Ferraro, is tenth in the national ranking with 199.05. That gives you an idea of the type of competition Ferraro encountered. Sparando is showing his heels to sucn famed stalwarts as Hank Marino, Joe Wilman, Ed Botten, Paul Krumske and a host of others.

The ten leaders follow:

John Crimmins, Detroit	203.38
Ned Day, Milwaukee	203.12
Andy Varipapa, Brooklyn	202.63
Walter Ward, Cleveland	202.59
Ben Cole, Akron	201.32
Al Novak, Philadelphia	200.29
Fred Breckles, Detroit	199.57
Ed Kawolics, Cleveland	199.41
Ad Carlson, Chicago	199.40
Tony Sparando, New York	199.05

Joe Bodis, the famed "Hungarian Rhapsody" of Cleveland set the all-time record for a 10-year stretch—205.76 from 1926 to 1935. That record will stand considerable punishment before it topples.

Flotsam and Jetsam

We forgot to chronicle that the Independent Married Men repeated their victory over Evelyn Moore's squad. . . . And the girls were all sound of wind and limb. . . . Judge John Cashin tells us he reads the "Pocket" regularly, although he hasn't bowled in years. . . . Thanx, Judge. . . . The railbirds are checking on Mason's "phantom squad" in the A.B.C. tournament. . . . No truth to the report, Van Kleeck's are bringing an oxygen tank along on that A.B.C.-state tournament week-end odyssey. . . . They'll need it.

Independent League bowlers were amazed Monday night to find George Dawkins (covered with chalk, as usual) in the pit. . . . It seems George was inspecting the pins in search of a sawed-off maple. Tsk, Tsk, George, no alibis for that 133. And besides it was all NEW wood you were shooting at!

Good Neighbor sparklers—G. Goldfarb 207 and 203, with 591 series, pretty fair in that circuit. . . . S. Levy 211 and Max Chirlin 210. . . . Sam Mason knocked off 201.

March Milk Return Is $3.41 Per Hundred

New York, March 27 —Dr. C. J. Blanford, New York milk market administrator, today issued his monthly forecast of price and production and estimated that dairymen will be paid a uniform price of $3.41 per hundred for March milk supplied for the metropolitan area. The estimate includes a butterfat differential of 4.8 cents for each point of fat in excess of the 3.5 per cent requirement.

The price to be supplemented by a subsidy payment of at least 70 cents to bring it to a minimum of $4.11, would be the highest for any March under the federal-state milk marketing orders. Moreover, according to Cornell University records, the total return of $4.11 would be 55 cents higher than the March 1920 record of $3.56 for milk of 3.5 per cent butterfat content.

Proposed Seaway Hit By G.O.P. in Assembly

Albany, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—The proposed St. Lawrence Seaway, backed by Governor Dewey, was condemned today by the Republican-controlled Assembly as "inimical to the best interests" of New York state.

A Democratic-sponsored resolution opposing the Seaway but backing development of the river's hydroelectric power was approved, 109-21, in the Assembly during the final hours of the 1946 session.

The Senate adjourned without acting on the resolution.

This led to a Democratic charge that Governor Dewey had ordered the measure killed in Senate Committee and that it had been held in the Assembly until it was too late for Senate action before adjournment.

against her interests unless the weight of the Council was brought to bear for a fair and just settlement.

The Iranian delegation leader, Hussein Ala, insisted last night that his government still has him under instructions to press its protests that Red Army troops have overstayed their post-war occupation limit, despite a Russian contention that a mutual agreement has been reached with Tehran and that Soviet troops are withdrawing.

Speaking outside the Council chamber, where he is a silent front row observer in the gallery, Hussein Ala said:

Insists on Protests

"I still am under instructions to protest to the United Nations Security Council the continued presence of Russian troops in Iran as well as other matters. I have been instructed by my government also to protest any postponement of prompt consideration of our case by the Council."

He did not define his reference to "other matters."

The members of the sub-committee on "procedure" to which the Iranian issue was referred are Russian Delegate Andrei Gromyko, U. S. Secretary of States James F. Byrnes and France's ambassador to Washington, Henri Bonnet.

Loses First Round

Gromkyo lost the first round in the Council session when his motion to delete the Iranian issue from the proposed agenda was defeated 9-2, Poland alone supporting Russia. Secretary-General Trygve Lie's proposed four-item agenda then was adopted with Russia and Poland again dissenting.

Having lost the first battle on procedure to majority forces led by Secretary Byrnes and Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain, Gromyko responded with a proposal that the Iranian charges be put over for discussion April 10.

The Russian delegate said he could not, before that date "participate or attend meetings of the Security Council in which the Security Council discussed the substance of matters raised by the Iranian government."

He was challenged by the Netherlands' Eelco Van Kleffens, who said: "I do not think any individual member should announce in advance that he would not take part. That is a sort of pressure."

Byrnes again argued for an immediate hearing of Iran, declaring that the Iranian delegation was present and should be given the opportunity to testify.

Must Hear Testimony

"We cannot proceed to vote on a question of postponing a matter of this kind until we give the representative of the complaining government an opportunity to be heard," Byrnes declared.

Bonnet broke up the long, heated debate with a proposal to refer the next step to a sub-committee. The vote was announced as nine for establishment of the committee, with the Netherlands and Mexican members not voting.

Before the Council in addition to the Russian proposal for postponement until April 10 are (1) A suggestion by Mahmoud Hassan Pasha of Egypt that Iran come from the gallery to the council table to make a settlement without prejudice to the question of postponement, and (2) A motion by Lt.-Col. W. R. Hodgson of Australia that the Iranian issue be retained on the agenda, that neither party take any steps to alter the present situation and that Iran submit a documented statement of its case for council consideration.

Partial to Iran, He Says

Gromyko, in the course of a day-long debate interrupted only for a late lunch, charged Byrnes and Cadogan with being "more Iranian than the Iranians, who apparently are satisfied", and declared "there is no reason for doubting the veracity of the Soviet government" in its statements of agreement with the Tehran regime.

Bidault Sees France in Role of 'Conciliator'

Paris, March 27 (AP)—Foreign Minister Georges Bidault said today that France's role at the current United Nations Security Council meeting in New York was that of "conciliator" among the United States, Russia and Britain.

He made his statement before the French Constituent Assembly's Foreign Affairs Commission, which voted approval of the action by Ambassador Henri Bonnet, head of the French delegation to the Council meeting, in asking yesterday in New York for a 24-hour postponement of the Iranian issue.

Bidault added that France still hoped the United States and Britain would agree to a diplomatic rupture with and economic sanctions against Spain.

The railroads of the United States use 1,294,047 miles of telephone and telegraph wires in their operations.

Feed Your Dog as Many Famous Breeders Do

"..grown dogs and puppies thrive.."
Miss Jackie Walls, owner of Wallstark Kennels, 13949 DeCosta, Detroit, writes: "My kennel contains no less than 30 grown St. Bernards (English Type) at all times . . . I have been feeding a GRO-PUP to all my dogs for the past four years. Both the grown dogs and the puppies thrive on it."

MOST breeders and veterinarians use and recommend a foundation diet of good dry dog food fed with scrap meat, including fat. So many feed Kellogg's GRO-PUP because it provides all the vitamins and minerals dogs are known to need for growth and vigor.

Kellogg's GRO-PUP is thrifty. And dogs love its hearty, meaty flavor.

Chicago, March 27 (AP)—Frank Barone, 71 year old shoemaker, was telling his customers about the $1,100 pair of shoes he repaired.

The shoes weren't worth $1,100, Barone explained. That was the amount of money he found hidden in one of the shoes left in his shop for repairs by an unidentified customer.

When Barone returned the money with the shoes, the customer, who did not identify himself, gave him $10 "for some cigars."

Finland Still Is Meeting War Debts—to Russia Now

(AP) News Feature
By C. J. KARLSSON

Helsinki—The second year after Finland's armistice with Russia threatens to be the stiffest of all for the country which always used to pay its war debts to the United States on time.

Finland faces total reorganization of industry to fulfill war debts to the Soviet Union. War reparations payments and restitution deliveries to be paid in 1946 total more than $50,000,000, estimated to be 20 percent of the national income. Restitution deliveries are to replace material removed from Russian territory in the 1941-44 war.

Government officials express belief that Finland by disregarding her own needs can meet both the $35,600,000 war damage compensations and the $15,400,000 restitution obligations.

Restitution will consist almost entirely of timber products, but 61.7 percent of the reparations must be paid in metal products, for which Finns must import raw materials. This has forced Finland to a gigantic reorganization of her export industry with emphasis on metal products. Before the war, such exports were only four percent of Finland's total. The entire heavy metal and much of the medium and light metal industries now are working on reparations.

But Finland need not worry about a market for her heavy metal industry. Announcing the reparation pay period had been lengthened from six to eight years. Stalin said the Soviet Union could absorb the industry's products in the future.

Finland's dollar loan from the United States, if she gets it, will be used exclusively for domestic needs.

Legislative Roundup

By HENRY LEADER

Albany, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—The Legislature adjourned today in a whirlwind of bill passing climaxed by Governor Dewey's dramatic rescue of the State Residential Rent Control Bill from probable defeat.

The Senate ended its labors at 12:51 a. m. and the Assembly at 2:28 a. m., nearly 12 hours past the scheduled quitting time, after the governor had halted a quarrel behind the scenes between Republican leaders of both Houses over an attempted amendment to the Rent Control Measure.

Before final adjournment the Legislature, in addition to empowering the state to fix rent ceiling on residential dwellings when O.P.A. regulations are abolished.

1. Voted New York city permission to levy $79,000,000 in new local taxes each year for the next three years.
2. Approved the New York City Airport Authority bill.
3. Passed Dewey's $7,000,000 supplemental budget.
4. Altered the Moore Commission program of state aid to localities.

Dewey intervened in the rent control row when it became apparent that the G.O.P. leaders of the Senate and Assembly were deadlocked. The Assembly passed the bill, 83-61, late yesterday afternoon and sent it to the Senate.

The Senate Finance Committee reported it out for a floor vote with an amendment by Republican Senator Frederic R. Coudert, Jr., of New York city, which stipulated that landlords were to be guaranteed a "fair return" on the entire value of their property, including maintenance expenses.

Complains About Loophole

Assembly G.O.P. leaders, notably the bill's sponsor, D. Mallory Stephens, objected violently to the amendment on the ground that it was a big loophole for evasion of rent ceilings.

Senate Republican leaders sought a special message from the governor, required to validate the amendment because of its late submission.

Dewey refused, making it plain he was unalterably opposed to the amendment. It then was deleted and the Senate passed the Stephens bill, 31 to 17 in the form approved by the Assembly.

The measure authorizes the Governor to appoint a commissioner at a salary of $12,000 and with an appropriation of $1,000,000 to fix, at his discretion, rent ceilings in any area of the state where he deems control is necessary. The commissioner's decision would be subject to court review.

The bill would take effect if and when O.P.A. control is abandoned, and would remain in force until June 30, 1947.

Democratic legislators charged the bill was loaded with loopholes for increasing rents. They fought unsuccessfully to include new construction, which the Republicans said was exempted from control in order to encourage building.

Battle on Sales Tax

Minority opposition to Mayor William O'Dwyer's New York city tax program centered on a bill increasing the sales tax from one to two per cent to give the city an additional revenue of $50,000,000.

The Democrats contended the tax, and the others, would not be needed if the Republican-controlled legislature gave the city a "just" share of state revenues. G.O.P. leaders replied that the city was being fairly treated.

Other approved bills in the O'Dwyer program will enable New York city to levy a five per cent tax on pari-mutuel betting at the metropolitan race tracks and a five per cent tax on hotel room rentals and to double the gross business taxes.

Governor Dewey's supplemental budget included appropriations of $3,723,000 for the Local Assistance Fund, including about $2,000,000 for Public Health; $2,374,000 from the Postwar Reconstruction Fund and $971,000 for the State Purposes Fund.

A sweeping investigation of the milk price spread was assured by passage of the supplemental budget which approximates $200,000 for the Ives Commission on Agriculture. Approximately $150,000 of this will be used for the price spread inquiry.

The bill brought the governor's budget total to a record high of $555,000,000 and appropriations and reappropriations from the Postwar Reconstruction Fund to approximately $451,000,000.

The New York City Airport Authority Bill, approved Monday by the Senate, was passed 116-27 in the Assembly. It creates a three-member group to be appointed by the mayor to take over from the city and operate La Guardia field and Idlewild Airport. The authority is empowered to issue $250,000,000 in bonds bearing a maximum yield of 3½ per cent.

A technical change in the Moore Commission plan, approved unanimously by both Houses, gives additional state aid to several cities and most villages whose fiscal years are different from the calendar year.

Final adjournment marked the end of Assembly Republican Leader Irving M. Ives's 17-year legislative career. He is retiring to devote full time to his duties as dean of the State School of Industrial and Labor Relations at Cornell University.

U. S. Soldiers in Europe Send for 1,200 Relatives

Washington, March 27 (AP)—The War Department ground out travel orders today for approximately 1,200 civilians who will sail for Europe next month to join 700 soldiers in the occupation armies.

Included are the kin of 676 officers and 24 enlisted men—all who applied for transportation of their dependents in time for this first shipment, the department said.

Among the travelers will be 316 children ranging in age from one month to 16 years, as well as wives, parents and in-laws of the service men.

The announcement last night explained few enlisted men applied because most wished to know first their future assignments and what facilities would be available for their children. Others, it said, delayed because they were spending reenlistment furloughs at home.

AIRPORT HITS FILMS

British film companies think fate is against them. All through the war they suffered a lack of studio space because all available buildings were taken over for stores. Now, after long protests, they are getting their space back, only to find that in the meantime London's great new airport, Heath Row, has moved in. All the studios are within a few miles of the airport and the noise created by the engines of liners arriving and departing is so great that shooting pictures is frequently impossible.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

New Paltz, Mar. 26—Huguenot Grange met in a regular meeting Saturday evening. After the business session Mrs. Robert Forshaw presented the lecture program which opened with a song by the Grange. This was followed by a skit entitled "Mother Goose Grange Rhymes." Those taking part in the skit were Mrs. Daisy Kortright, Mrs. Gertrude Coulter, Mrs. Cecil DePuy, Mrs. Merton DePuy, William Schreiber, Mrs. Stanley Beatty, Mrs. John Schrieber and Thomas DePuy. Douglas Alverson sang an Irish ballad and obliged with an encore. Mrs. Frank Elliott read several poems and Alfred Schreiber conducted a quiz after which Douglas Alverson entertained with a number of Irish jokes. A roll call of stories by John Schreiber was enjoyed. A gift swap closed the program. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Bertha Tice and Mrs. Wayne Wright, who served refreshments. They were assisted by a committee.

The Rev. St. Clair Vannix, who recently resigned his pastorate at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church here, and Mrs. Vannix, the former Miss Dorothy Simms, are now busy in the work of the church in South Dakota. Mr. Vannix is chaplain at the Veteran's Hospital and Mrs. Vannix has taken a position [illegible] at one of the Episcopal Church boarding schools for Indians.

A fire of unknown origin which started in a third floor closet of the Giardi apartment house on upper Main street did considerable damage Wednesday afternoon. The fire was discovered coming through the walls by three children who were playing in the house. The fire department was called and arrived a few minutes later to find the entire third floor completely in flames. They fought the blaze for approximately 45 minutes before they had it under control. Their efficient work held the fire to the third floor. However, considerable damage was done throughout the house by water and smoke. Earlier in the day the firemen extinguished two grass fires. One was in back of the home of Ray Terpening and another in Ohioville.

As in the past year, Mrs. Paul Benton of Normabee Farm, New Paltz, had a booth at the National Antique Show in Madison Square Garden, New York, last week. Four items from her exhibit were entered in the Little Museum in the basement which is to collect and highlight some of the more unusual pieces of the show. Among these were a large Staffordshire platter, a set of three large old bowls of different sizes, a three piece sugar and cream set of Apostle ware said to be the only three complete service of this ware in existence, and pictured in the current issue of "Retailer" as very outstanding; also a handsome pierced brass foot warmer which had come down from a New Paltz family received honorable mention.

Leslie Elliott, recently discharged from the navy, has secured a position in Poughkeepsie.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Brown and family of Walden spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Mabel Schneider.

Michael Yess of West Chester, Pa., has been spending a few weeks at his home here.

The New Paltz Rod and Gun Club held a special meeting in the American Legion hall Friday night. Important business matters were discussed. Movies of big game hunting and fishing were shown. A social hour followed.

All Huguenot Grange members of New Paltz have been asked to take part in the rolled molasses cookie contest May 18, at the Grange hall. There will be a first [illegible] prize award. The winner will compete at Pomona at a later date.

Mrs. Thomas Roberts of New Paltz gave a surprise birthday party for Mrs. Mabel Schneider of Plutarch, Friday evening at which time a delicious supper was served to 12 guests. A large birthday cake with candles was one of the principal attractions. Games were played and all had an enjoyable evening.

Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Saberski and daughter are now living in their new home which they recently purchased in Tarrytown and Dr. Saberski has resumed his practice there.

BOYS RISK STINGS

Boys are willing to risk an occasional bee sting in the interest of profits, but girls are different, according to the report of the Modern School of Beekeeping Co., near Glasgow, Scotland. The boy and girl shareholders were paid a dividend of 100 per cent on the 20-cent shares for 1945, double the return in 1944. Secretary Walter Bennett (13) said that in spite of an occasional sting boys had always been ready to look after the bees, though the girls had seldom gone near them.

MONEY WELL SAVED
$8,282,988,494 by nearly 7 Million People

IT COULD only happen here! Only the free citizens of a free nation could amass such great savings which they entrust to their own banks—the Mutual Savings Banks of New York State.

These eight billions of the people's dollars are dollars well saved. For they were saved by the kind of common-sense self-restraint that first made our country rich and strong.

Their savings will enable these people to buy worthwhile things, thus keeping our factories busy, creating good jobs, giving more people a chance to get ahead. Meanwhile, these people are not rushing out to buy scarce goods at high prices. Instead they enjoy the peace of mind that comes only with ready cash.

Who are they? Let's meet a few of them!

Mary said "No!" to spending sprees. She is "buying" the home she wants by seeing her Savings Bank every pay day. Soon, she and her returning soldier-husband will have their home.

Bill's war job paid him the best money of his life. So, instead of spending unwisely, he saw his Savings Bank every pay day... Result? Bill now has his own business, where he's the boss.

Sally's marine will be mustered out soon. Sally has put their future on a firm foundation of dollars in a Savings Bank. She's "buying" the worthwhile things they want by saving for them.

Roy and Betty dream of making their old home new. They know what it takes to make dreams come true—ready cash. So they add to their Savings Bank account regularly, every pay day.

Ted and Irene began building Junior's future long before he came along. They are "buying" him a college education, by adding to their Savings Bank account regularly.

Dad always saw his Savings Bank every pay day. Now retired, his life insurance pays the bills—his Savings Bank account provides the "extras." He worked for his money—now it works for him.

Russian Is Held For Espionage

Redin of action "against the peace and dignity of the United States of America."

He said the accusations were made in Seattle on December 22, 1945, the day Redin is charged with having obtained the information. The warrant was issued last Friday.

There was no announcement of how the young Russian officer had obtained the documents and plans or whom the officer had "induced" to obtain the informatioon.

Slow Developments

Details of the arrest were slow developing. The F.B.I. at first clamped a lid both here and at Portland after the first brief announcement at 10:30 p. m. (E.S.T.) last night.

It was disclosed, however, that the ship Redin was preparing to board was the floating cannery, the SS Alma Ata, which had undergone a year-long, $2,000,000 refurnishing in the Oregon harbor. The ship had been waiting for a letter of credit to release a load of 300,000 pounds of sisal rope purchased by the Soviet government from the War Assets Corporation. The necessary papers arrived Tuesday and loading of the vessel began immediately. Agents halted the Russian officer, who came to Portland Tuesday from Seattle, as he boarded the vessel shortly after 6 p. m. Pacific Standard Time (9 p. m. E.S.T.).

Redin, who became head of the Soviet Purchasing Commission office in Seattle after the staff was curtailed at the end of the war, was described as active socially among other Russians in Seattle but little known to Americans there. His wife told Seattle reporters last night she knew nothing about the case. The couple has an infant daughter.

Had Trouble With Reporters

Seattle newsmen had a brush with Redin only 11 days ago when the tanker Puente Hills arrived with the survivors of the wreck of the Russian tanker Donbass.

The reporters swarmed aboard the ship to interview survivors and the Russian mother of a baby born aboard the Puente Hills. Redin, prominent in his Soviet uniform with starred shoulderboards, snapped an order in Russian and the women members of the Donbass crew scurried to their cabins and the men refused to talk.

He told the protesting newsmen the survivors were tired and could not be interviewed. He had boarded the vessel when it entered Puget Sound.

Main Pacific Coast officers of the Purchasing Commission were located at Portland during the war. It was from there that some $1,782,000,000 worth of lend-lease goods were shipped to the Soviet Union for the war first against Germany and finally against Japan.

One of the main projects in the $2,000,000,000 atomic bomb development is located in adjoining Washington State. It is the Mammoth Hanford Plutonium Production plant. Plutonium is the element used in the bomb.

Father Goes Berserk: Slashes Wife and Five Children; Baby Skulled

New York, March 27 (AP)—Police answering an urgent call for help, entered a coldwater tenement flat on the Brooklyn waterfront today and found five children and their mother and father, all badly cut, and the body of a 4-month-old baby, skull smashed, lying under a bedsheet.

Another member of the family, an 18-year-old girl, ran screaming with pain to the home of an uncle, Albert Bishop, who summoned police. Police said the girl declared her father went berserk and attacked them with knives and a hatchet.

A cap had been removed from a gas pipe and the flat was filled with gas, police added.

Police identified the father as Arthur Crehan, 40, a longshoreman. He was found on the floor of the apartment with a stab wound over the heart which police said was self-inflicted.

Two other children who were uninjured told police they were awakened by screams, saw their father striking the other children, and hid under a bed until they had an opportunity to run from the flat.

Detective James Maloney said that Crehan, before lapsing into unconsciousness, told him:

"I am sorry I have done it."

All of the injured were taken to Cumberland Hospital where the condition of each was described as critical.

Zionists Will Meet With B'nai B'rith To Hear Guest Speaker

The regular meeting of B'nai B'rith, to be held tonight, will feature an annual event in which B'nai B'rith plays host to the Kingston Zionist District. The program will be one of general Zionist information and interest. Dr. Sidney Marks of Washington, D. C., will be the speaker. Dr. Marks, although still a young man, has already achieved outstanding national recognition in his election to the post of executive secretary of the Zionist Organization of [illegible] to start at 8 p. m. at the B'nai B'rith building on Wall street.

At a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Kingston Zionist District, under the chairmanship of Abraham Streifer, it was decided to streamline and intensify the activities of the district. The following three standing committees were designated to further the work of Kingston Zionism in conjunction with the executive committee: Public relations, Arthur E. Ewig, chairman; William Chazanof, Rabbi Frank Plotke and Abraham Streifer; membership, Louis Schwartz, chairman, Joseph Pauker and Ben Silverman; finance, Herman Rafalowsky and Harry Streifer.

Programs of wide interest are planned for future Zionist meetings.

The Misses Quimby Are Hostesses to Lowell Club

The Misses Anna and May Quimby were hostesses at their home on Wilson avenue to the final program meeting of Lowell Literary Club Tuesday afternoon. The next meeting, April 12, will be the annual meeting where reports will be given and election of officers will be held. Mrs. O. D. B. Ingalls will be hostess at her home in Hurley.

Mrs. H. L. A. Fick gave the paper for the day on "People." She based her remarks on Emery Reeves' book, "The Anatomy of Peace." The idea stressed was that peace can prevail only when international relationships are governed by law and regulated by treaties. Reeves believes peace is possible to achieve but none of the methods used so far have succeeded. He suggests an international government which will govern relations between nations just as the federal laws govern the states' relations. The democratic way of life, freedom for the individual is right for all but that freedom must be controlled by law.

Individual freedom must not infringe upon the freedom of society, Mrs. Fick explained in her paper. The only way to prevent war was noted as granting to all peoples equal rights, opportunities, according to fixed laws. Mankind, everywhere, shares some common feelings or emotions such as in music, religious urge or even in silence. Reeves thinks the problem of people is social and politi[illegible] not a technical one. "Peace is still based on law and the task today is to make possible this unified control."

Castle Point Men Ask For Craft Instructions As Groups Visit Them

Groups from Kingston who are visiting Castle Point Veteran Hospital quite often now, find many of the patients doing handicraft work. Knitting, crocheting and tatting are among the favorite pastimes and patients are asking for more books of instructions, needles and materials. Samples of the different stitches will also be appreciated. Mrs. Edward Leonard sent several tatted curtain pulls to one of them. From these he has created several other designs. Another young man proudly modeled a [illegible] blue cable-stitch sweater which he has just completed.

Other patients make leather wallets and cigarette cases. Some are becoming proficient in making monogrammed plastic bracelets. Miss Evelyn Auchmoody usually has a box of these on display for sale at the Grand Union store.

Monday evening, Theodore Gallop, vice commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Joyce-Schirick Post, drove a party including his mother, Sophie Miller, John Brice and Major Sol Till to the hospital. One of the patients was interested in repairing watches and talked with Mr. Gallop. Major Till, who recently received his discharge and is now residing at the Governor Clinton Hotel, talked with the men and compared their work with what he had seen at other army hospitals.

Another group including Miss Alice M. Scardefield, treasurer of the Grand Chapter of Eastern Stars of the State of New York; Mrs. Jesse D. Barnhart, matron of Clinton Chapter, Mrs. Kenneth Haines, an officer of Clinton Chapter and Sophie Miller drove to the hospital last week taking a large number of cigarettes donated by the Eastern Stars and magazines given by Mrs. B. D. Wolff of Adams street. They were escorted through the wards and found the patients asking especially for cigarettes since their allowances were quite small. There is a roaming canteen wagon with samples of almost everything in the first floor canteen. From the wagon the bed patients are able to select what they wish.

The Eastern Stars also made arrangements to take their popular minstrel show to the hospital April 17. The show has been given three times in Kingston.

Cood Taste Today

UNKINDNESS SURELY UNINTENTIONAL

Unhappily all situations in this postwar world are not as pleasant as we would like them to be. For example this letter asks, "Have you a suggestion for me in this situation? I associate with persons of many different nationalities and religions but neither difference has in the past come between me and my friends. My husband's friends, however, are so lacking in manners and tact that they constantly tread on my toes by making unkind remarks about the people of a country who was America's ally during the war, though they know that my parents were born there. I do not wish to offend my husband's friends, but I am made very unhappy. What can I do to give them a hint of their discourtesy?"

I think the best thing would be to tell them quite frankly, "I am sure you don't realize you are talking about the people of my family's native land, and that you make them and me very sad."

Hat Off In The Evening

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to the home of my sister-in-law to a family dinner. Is is proper and advisable for me to wear my hat during the dinner and the rest of the evening? And would your answer be the same if it were lunch instead of dinner?

Answer: It is not at all proper to wear your hat in the evening. It is entirely proper to wear it in the daytime whenever you feel like it.

Leaving Him Behind Unthinkable

Dear Mrs. Post: I am engaged and am the only one in the family expecting to be married soon. When we, as a family group, are invited somewhere to a party, don't you think people also should invite my fiance? If they don't, would it be proper for me to ask whether I might have him come with us?

Answer: Of course!

Day Or Evening

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please explain the difference between (1) a daytime dress with a long skirt, (2) a dinner dress and (3) an evening dress.

Answer: The difference is in the material. Home-spun, cotton, wool dark (2) colors—daytime. (2) silk, lame, lace, etc.—evening. (3) Same as with cut-out back or front sleeveless, and possibly all three.

Golf Officials Predict Boom in Local Sport for 1946 Season

Wiltwyck to Open This Week; May 1 For Twaalfskill

Renovations Are Planned for Both Clubs; Tommy Danaher Is Returning to Wiltwyck Greens

Kingston's two golf courses—Twaalfskill and Wiltwyck—will keep abreast of the postwar sports and recreational boom with elaborate plans and tournaments for the forthcoming season, it was learned yesterday.

President Roy Sutliff of Twaalfskill, the oldest course in the region, predicted a record-breaking season for his club, while Dwight McEntee, Sr., of Wiltwyck, was equally enthusiastic about prospects for the uptown course.

Busy Schedule Ahead

Plans for inter-club, local and regional tournaments have not been officially formulated at the present, but the pros at both organizations are expected to keep their members busy with real competition throughout the 1946 campaign.

Twaalfskill plans elaborate renovations and improvements both to its club and course facilities. Mr. Sutliff said the definite plans would be announced in a few days.

Two veteran pros—both extremely popular with their constituents—Walter Thiel and Tommy Danaher, will be back on the local scene.

Thiel, who served as Twaalfskill pro for many years, prior to his entry in service, is at the course daily shaping plans for the future. During the war he earned a measure of fame for building a golf course in a remote sector of India and maintained close contact with the game.

Frank Ball on Staff

Working with Thiel will be Frank Ball, former international competitor who came to the United States several years ago with a British Walker Cup team and never returned to his native England. Mr. Ball served Twaalfskill during Thiel's absence, but proved so popular that the directors of Twaalfskill have invited him to join the staff.

Tom Danaher, who succeeded Frank Shimek as Wiltwyck pro several years ago, is due in Kingston Sunday from Florida and will have a batch of new plans to announce at that time. Like Twaalfskill, the Wiltwyck directors also have planned many improvements both in the course and clubhouse.

Get in Early Licks

The spring-like weather of last week-end brought out duffers and experts in large droves, but the official opening for Twaalfskill has been set for May 1. The Wiltwyck course opens officially this week-end, weather permitting.

Twaalfskill expects to reach its highest membership in history this season, with several ex-servicemen in the fold. The number of paid members is now approximately 70, but will exceed that total by a wide margin when final returns are in.

Mr. Sutliff along with Judge John M. Cashin and other officials are enthusiastic about the forthcoming season and its possibilities.

"This is the first postwar year," they said, "and we feel that golf will boom just as the other sports. The people are relaxed for the first time in several years and they are going to turn to sports. Golf certainly will play a big part in the overall picture."

Roy Sutliff heads the Twaalfskill Board of Directors and is an able sparkplug to keep his club in the spotlight throughout the 1946 season.

Other members of the Board of Directors are Judge Cashin, G. Wallace Codwise, James A. Dwyer, Thomas W. Flemming, Harry R. Le Fevre, vice-president, J. Richard Miller, Edward H. Remmert, John J. Van Gonsic, and John D. Schoonmaker, Jr., who is secretary-treasurer.

Bob Herzog is chairman of the House Committee. Plans are in the making for a gala opening function, but details remain to be worked out at the next meeting of the Board.

More Plans Coming

Dues at Twaalfskill are $60 yearly for resident men golfers and $25 for resident women; $30 for non-resident men and $20 for non-resident women. Social memberships are available for $10 per season but do not carry golf or club privileges.

Detailed information regarding the Wiltwyck Club plans will be announced by Tommy Danaher this week-end.

Meanwhile continued excellent weather is expected to bring out Kingston's formidable army of mashie wielders in full force this week-end. Neither of the two local courses is set up for actual competition, but that will not be a deterrent to the duffers and pros. For who is crazier than a real golf bug?

Elizabeth, N. J.—Aaron Perry, 153½, Washington, knocked out Chico Donahue, 157½, Philadelphia, (3).

After Third Straight

Tampa, Fla., March 27 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds will aim for their third straight victory over the World Champion Detroit Tigers at Lakeland today.

Priddy Satisfies Nats

Orlando, Fla., March 27 (AP)—Much of the praise coming out of the camp of the Washington Senators is about second sacker Jerry Priddy. Manager Ossie Bluege is pleased over the veteran's aggressiveness.

Giants Ink Kennedy

Miami, Fla., March 27 (AP)—Convinced that Monty Kennedy, 23-year old southpaw hurler, has great possibilities despite his wildness, the New York Giants have bought him for $25,000 from the Richmond Colts of the Piedmont League. The rookie has been with the Giants all through the training period on a trial basis. He'll probably be sent to the New Yorkers' Jersey City International League farm for more seasoning.

Stirnweiss Hit

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 27 (AP)—With Joe Gordan on the sidelines with an injured hand, the New York Yankees had a big scare yesterday when Snuffy Stirnweiss, their able third baseman was struck in the mouth by a grounder. The injury didn't prove serious and Snuffy, recently converted to a third baseman, is expected to see action against Brooklyn today.

Operation for Wilks

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 27 (AP)—St. Louis Cardinal pitcher Ted Wilks will have his tonsils removed before the Redbirds leave St. Petersburg, says Manager Eddie Dyer. After X-raying Wilks' arm a physician expressed the opinion the hurler's painful elbow was due to infected tonsils.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 27 (AP)—Brooklyn Dodger players disclosed today they had recently rejected offers to jump the National Leaguers and sign with the Mexican League. The Brooks are here to meet the New York Yanks today. Lavagetto said he spurned a contract calling for a total of $30,000 for the three years.

Only School to Capture NCAA Cage Crown Two Years in Succession; Kurland Gets 23

New York, March 27 (AP)—Hank Iba, 42-year-old coach of the only school to win the N.C.A.A. basketball crown two straight years, believes his present Oklahoma A. and M. aggregation is even better than his "dream" five of last year which won the N.C.A.A. title and went on to defeat DePaul for the national championship.

In vanquishing a strong North Carolina quintet 43-40 at Madison Square Garden last night before 18,479 fans, the Aggies scored their 15th consecutive conquest and closed the season with a record of 31 victories in 33 games.

643 Points for Season

Seven-foot Bob Kurland provided a majority of the points. The redhaired giant center hooped 23 to raise his season record total to 643 points. His 72 point total in three N.C.A.A. clashes not only earned him the award as the outstanding player in the tournament, but enabled him to pass Elmore Morgenthaler of New Mexico Mines as the nation's top collegiate scorer.

"This team as a whole is better than the eagers I had a year ago," Iba, just concluding his 19th year as a court mentor, added, "it is more solid. While my 1945 champions were a higher scoring outfit, they were not as good on defense. Also this is a better clutch team, it will get those points when the chips are down."

Firemen Outscore Kerhonkson, 40-30

Charlie Williams Scores 14 for Winners

The High Falls Firemen, with Charlie Williams, sharpshooting forward leading the way, scored a 40 to 30 victory over the strong Kerhonkson High School team last week. High Falls took an early lead, led at the half by 22-15, and was never headed. Williams was the big gun in the triumph with his 14 points. Van Vliet of Kerhonkson dropped in 13.

In the preliminary attraction the Kingston High School juniors downed the High Falls Juniors by 28 to 18. Halstein led the winners with 15 markers. Davenport and Smith each tossed in five tallies for the losers.

Next Saturday two important games are slated for the High Falls teams and all proceeds of the contests will go to the Disabled Veterans fund. A large turnout is expected.

The annual election of Kingston Bowling Association officers for the 1946-47 season will be held Wednesday evening, April 3, at 7:30 o'clock at the Y.M.C.A., Vernon Freese, secretary of the K.B.A. announced this morning. Better Bowling

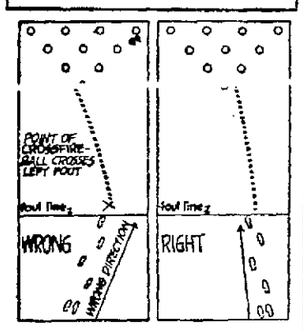
By Billy Sixty



CROSS-FIRE BALL: The other day a G.I., recently returned from four years of service and getting a fresh start in bowling, was having trouble keeping the ball on the right side of the head pin.

His footwork was good. The timing of his stride and the swinging ball was excellent. He got to the foul line smoothly, and he released the ball easily.

But it was a cross-fire delivery. He did the opposite of what he was supposed to do. He should have taken his stance a little to the right of the center of the alley. His run then would have been in a straight line to permit his arm to swing out on a straight line for the desired direction.

Instead, he shifted farther and farther to the left side of the alley.

His next move—a natural mistake—was to run toward the right hand gutter. Instinctively he felt that ball and left foot would clash at the point of delivery, which also would be natural, so he hurried the swing.

Here was CROSS-FIRE at the line, the feet going to the right, the ball released quickly to the left—across the head pin.

The correction was simple—merely moving toward the RIGHT HAND gutter and striding to the [illegible]

Syracuse Bowlers Roll 1298; Move Into Second Place

Buffalo, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—John Rutkowski, a kegler of international fame, and Joseph Bruzdzinski, both of Syracuse, teamed to take over second place yesterday in the doubles competition of the American Bowling Congress with a score of 1298.

The 41-year-old Rutkowski, winner of the German National individual title, shot 675 yesterday on games of 194, 224 and 257. Bruzdzinski, 38, contributed 623 on a 245-189-188 series.

Western New York booster squads will predominate in tonight's competition. A scattering of teams from Pennsylvania, Michigan, Illinois and Ohio also was scheduled.

Big Entry Field Is Due For Rec Bowling Classic

Third Annual Tourney, 100% Five-Man Team Affair, Will Open on April 13

Entry blanks for the third annual Central Recreation Bowling Classic, a 100 per cent five-man team handicap tournament, are now available at the Railroad avenue bowling emporium. Entries close on April 7, with the tournament scheduled the week-ends of April 13-14 and April 20-21.

First prize will be $200 this season, or double what it paid last year. There are five team places and other awards to be announced later.

100 Per Cent Handicap

Teams will be handicapped 100 per cent off 1,000 on the basis of up-to-date averages. Thus a team with an 800-average would receive 200 pins a game, or 600 for the series.

Past performances have proved that the lower teams are strictly in the driver's seat in this type of competition.

Any combination of five bowlers can compete in the tournament, but the team name must be registered with the American Bowling Congress. The event is sanctioned by the A.B.C. and any scores eligible for national awards will be protected by the sanction.

Big Entry Field Opined

John Ferraro and John Sangi, Central Recreation alley proprietors, are confident the entry list for the 1946 tourney will exceed by a wide margin the 100 entry of last season. Entries are beginning to come in from every bowling center in the mid-Hudson area from Albany to Nyack.

No team or bowler will be permitted to compete more than once in this tournament. All out-of-town averages must be certified by the secretary of the city association from which the entry emanates.

Detailed rules and conditions governing the tournament will be found on the entry blanks.

No Opponent Yet

New York, March 27 (AP)—Whether the Red Cross benefit basketball show will be staged in Madison Square Garden Thursday night depended today on ability of the promoters to obtain an opponent for the Phillips 66 Oilers, National A.A.U. champions from Bartlesville, Okla. The U. S. Army's First Division five originally was scheduled to meet the Oilers but the European theatre champions, stationed in Munich, Germany, sent word yesterday they wouldn't be able to arrive in time.

Sportsmen on Air

Maxie Baer and Maxie Rosenbloom will share guest honors on the WJZ sports program, Joe Hasel Presents, Friday evening, March 29 at 11:15 o'clock. Tonight Dean Miller, U.P. sports writer who has just returned from a tour of major league camps will be the guest and Thursday evening it will be Cliff Montgomery, Columbia's Rose Bowl hero who was recently discharged from service.

To Air Bowling Quiz

Right Down Your Alley, a new audience participation show combining contestants' knowledge of sports with their skill at bowling, will be heard each Sunday over WJZ and the American Broadcasting Company beginning March 31 from 4:30 to 5 o'clock. Bill Slater will emcee the program.

Will Broadcast Fight

WJZ-A.B.C. sportscasters Don Dunphy and Bill Corum will describe the 10-round non-title bout at Madison Square Garden between new welterweight champion, Marty Servo, and Rocky Graziano, Friday, March 29, at 10 o'clock.

In The Pocket with CHARLIE TIANO

The 10-year high average contest of the A.B.C. is one of tenpin's most spectacular contests. An exacting test, it runs over a period of ten consecutive ABC tournaments. The distance is a maximum of 90 games, 9 of which are rolled annually in the all-events of the Congress' spring classic.

This is where the men are separated from the women and children. Home town averages of 220 or thereabouts don't mean much in the white heat of A.B.C. competition. The trundlers up in the 10-year parade are the cream of the nation's crop. No bowler has lived until he competes in the A.B.C. and no bowler appreciates the sovereignty of the 10-year average than one who has gone through tourney after tourney.

Current leader is John Crimmins, the Detroit Goliath, the man with ice water in his veins. For the last 90 games, Long John has batted out a 203.38 average. A close second is Ned Day, four-time national match champion who sports 203.12. Our old friend, Andy Varipapa, Brooklyn's famous trick shot artist, ranks third with 202.63. Andy has the further distinction of the highest life-time A.B.C. average.

Tony Sparando, who recently defeated Johnny Ferraro, is tenth in the national ranking with 199.05. That gives you an idea of the type of competition Ferraro encountered. Sparando is showing his heels to such famed stalwarts as Hank Marino, Joe Wilman, Ed Botten, Paul Krumske and a host of others.

The ten leaders follow:

John Crimmins, Detroit	203.38
Ned Day, Milwaukee	203.12
Andy Varipapa, Brooklyn	202.63
Walter Ward, Cleveland	202.50
Ben Cole, Akron	201.32
Al Novak, Philadelphia	200.29
Fred Breckles, Detroit	199.57
Ed Kawolics, Cleveland	199.41
Ad Carlson, Chicago	199.40
Tony Sparando, New York	199.05

Joe Bodis, the famed "Hungarian Rhapsody" of Cleveland set the all-time record for a 10-year stretch—205.76 from 1926 to 1935. That record will stand considerable punishment before it topples.

Flotsam and Jetsam

We forgot to chronicle that the Independent Married Men repeated their victory over Evelyn Moore's squad. . . . And the girls were all sound of wind and limb. . . . Judge John Cashin tells us he reads the "Pocket" regularly, although he hasn't bowled in years. . . . Thanx, Judge. . . . The railbirds are checking on Mason's "phantom squad" in the A.B.C. tournament. . . . No truth to the report, Van Kleeck's are bringing an oxygen tank along on that A.B.C.-state tournament week-end odyssey. . . . They'll need it.

Independent League bowlers were amazed Monday night to find George Dawkins covered with chalk, as usual, in the pit. . . . It seems George was inspecting the pins in search of a sawed-off maple, Tsk, Tsk, George, no alibis for that 133. And besides it was all NEW wood you were shooting at!

Good Neighbor sparklers—G. Goldfarb 207 and 203, with 591 series, pretty fair in that circuit. . . . S. Levy 211 and Max Chirlin 210. . . . Sam Mason knocked off 201.

Moose Club Will Hold Big Sports Meeting Tonight

An important meeting of the sports committee of Kingston Lodge, 970, Loyal Order of Moose, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock relative to entering a team in the New York State Moose Association Softball League. George "Doc" Wolf, chairman, requests a full attendance.

The softball association is composed of teams from over a hundred lodges throughout this state and the organization will be divided into districts, it is announced. The winners of each district league will meet in playoffs to determine the championship of the league.

In addition to the forming of a softball team, lodge members will discuss various other phases of their sports program, which will include boxing and other gymnastic sports. It is the desire of the Moose committee to promote a gym team of high calibre which will later tour the different lodges and entertain with exhibitions.

All members of the sports committee are urgently requested to attend tonight's session.

Finland Still Is Meeting War Debts—to Russia Now

(AP) News Feature
By C. J. KARLSSON

Helsinki—The second year after Finland's armistice with Russia threatens to be the stiffest of all for the country which always used to pay its war debts to the United States on time.

Finland faces total reorganization of industry to fulfill war debts to the Soviet Union. War reparations payments and restitution deliveries to be paid in 1946 total more than $50,000,000, estimated to be 20 percent of the national income. Restitution deliveries are to replace material removed from Russian territory in the 1941-44 war.

Government officials express belief that Finland by disregarding her own needs can meet both the $35,600,000 war damage compensations and the $15,400,000 restitution obligations.

Restitution will consist almost entirely of timber products, but 61.7 percent of the reparations must be paid in metal products, for which Finns must import raw materials. This has forced Finland to a gigantic reorganization of her export industry with emphasis on metal products. Before the war, such exports were only four percent of Finland's total. The entire heavy metal and much of the medium and light metal industries now are working on reparations.

But Finland need not worry about a market for her heavy metal industry. Announcing the reparation pay period had been lengthened from six to eight years. Stalin said the Soviet Union could absorb the industry's products in the future.

Finland's dollar loan from the United States, if she gets it, will be used exclusively for domestic needs.

Legislative Roundup

By HENRY LEADER

Albany, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—The Legislature adjourned today in a whirlwind of bill passing climaxed by Governor Dewey's dramatic rescue of the State Residential Rent Control Bill from probable defeat.

The Senate ended its labors at 12:51 a. m. and the Assembly at 2:28 a. m., nearly 12 hours past the scheduled quitting time, after the governor had halted a quarrel behind the scenes between Republican leaders of both Houses over an attempted amendment to the Rent Control Measure.

Before final adjournment the Legislature, in addition to empowering the state to fix rent ceiling on residential dwellings when O.P.A. regulations are abolished.

1. Voted New York city permission to levy $79,000,000 in new local taxes each year for the next three years.

2. Approved the New York City Airport Authority bill.

3. Passed Dewey's $7,000,000 supplemental budget.

4. Altered the Moore Commission program of state aid to localities.

Dewey intervened in the rent control row when it became apparent that the G.O.P. leaders of the Senate and Assembly were deadlocked. The Assembly passed the bill, 83-61, late yesterday afternoon and sent it to the Senate.

The Senate Finance Committee reported it out for a floor vote with an amendment by Republican Senator Frederic R. Coudert, Jr., of New York city, which stipulated that landlords were to be guaranteed a "fair return" on the entire value of their property, including maintenance expenses.

Complains About Loophole

Assembly G.O.P. leaders, notably the bill's sponsor, D. Mallory Stephens, objected violently to the amendment on the ground that it was a big loophole for evasion of rent ceilings.

Senate Republican leaders sought a special message from the governor, required to validate the amendment because of its late submission.

Dewey refused, making it plain he was unalterably opposed to the amendment. It then was deleted and the Senate passed the Stephens bill, 31 to 17 in the form approved by the Assembly.

The measure authorizes the Governor to appoint a commissioner at a salary of $12,000 and with an appropriation of $1,000,000 to fix, at his discretion, rent ceilings in any area of the state where he deems control is necessary. The commissioner's decision would be subject to court review.

The bill would take effect if and when O.P.A. control is abandoned, and would remain in force until June 30, 1947.

Democratic legislators charged the bill was loaded with loopholes for increasing rents. They fought unsuccessfully to include new construction, which the Republicans said was exempted from control in order to encourage building.

Battle on Sales Tax

Minority opposition to Mayor William O'Dwyer's New York city tax program centered on a bill increasing the sales tax from one to two per cent to give the city an additional revenue of $50,000,000.

The Democrats contended the tax, and the others, would not be needed if the Republican-controlled legislature gave the city a "just" share of state revenues. G.O.P. leaders replied that the city was being fairly treated.

Other approved bills in the O'Dwyer program will enable New York city to levy a five per cent tax on pari-mutuel betting at the metropolitan race tracks and a five per cent tax on hotel room rentals and to double the gross business taxes.

Governor Dewey's supplemental budget included appropriations of $3,723,000 for the Local Assistance Fund, including about $2,000,000 for Public Health; $2,374,000 from the Postwar Reconstruction Fund and $971,000 for the State Purposes Fund.

A sweeping investigation of the milk price spread was assured by passage of the supplemental budget which approximates $200,000 for the Ives Commission on Agriculture. Approximately $150,000 of this will be used for the price spread inquiry.

The bill brought the governor's budget total to a record high of $555,000,000 and appropriations and reappropriations from the Postwar Reconstruction Fund to approximately $451,000,000.

The New York City Airport Authority Bill, approved Monday by the Senate, was passed 116-27 in the Assembly. It creates a three-member group to be appointed by the mayor to take over from the city and operate La Guardia field and Idlewild Airport. The authority is empowered to issue $250,000,000 in bonds bearing a maximum yield of 3½ per cent.

A technical change in the Moore Commission plan, approved unanimously by both Houses, gives additional state aid to several cities and most villages whose fiscal years are different from the calendar year.

Final adjournment marked the end of Assembly Republican Leader Irving M. Ives's 17-year legislative career. He is retiring to devote full time to his duties as dean of the State School of Industrial and Labor Relations at Cornell University.

State Bar Association To Study Legislation

H. Duane Bruce of Syracuse has been named chairman of a committee of the New York State Bar Association charged with studying and reporting on Federal legislation affecting the legal profession, it was announced today by Lewis C. Ryan, president of the New York State Bar Association.

Other members of the committee include: John Gerdes, L. Randolph Mason, Gilbert H. Montague, Harry D. Nims, Basil O'Connor, Sanford Solarz, Benjamin Siegal, Hiram Thomas and Clifton P. Williamson of New York city.

Also Irving G. Higbee, Raymond A. Hust and Charles S. Estabrook of Syracuse; Laurence E. Coffey and Peter A. Schultz of Buffalo; George J. Hatt II, and Charles B. Sullivan of Albany; Edmund C. Faulkner of Middletown, Roscoe Irwin of Kingston, Harold M. Kennedy of Brooklyn, John J. Kuhn of Great Neck, Clyde E. Schultz of Hornell and Harold M. Woods of Rochester.

U. S. Soldiers in Europe Send for 1,200 Relatives

Washington, March 27 (AP)—The War Department ground out travel orders today for approximately 1,200 civilians who will sail for Europe next month to join 700 soldiers in the occupation armies.

Included are the kin of 676 officers and 24 enlisted men—all who applied for transportation of their dependents in time for this first shipment, the department said.

Among the travelers will be 316 children ranging in age from one month to 16 years, as well as wives, parents and in-laws of the service men.

The announcement last night explained few enlisted men applied because most wished to know first their future assignments and what facilities would be available for their children. Others it said, delayed because they were spending reenlistment furloughs at home.

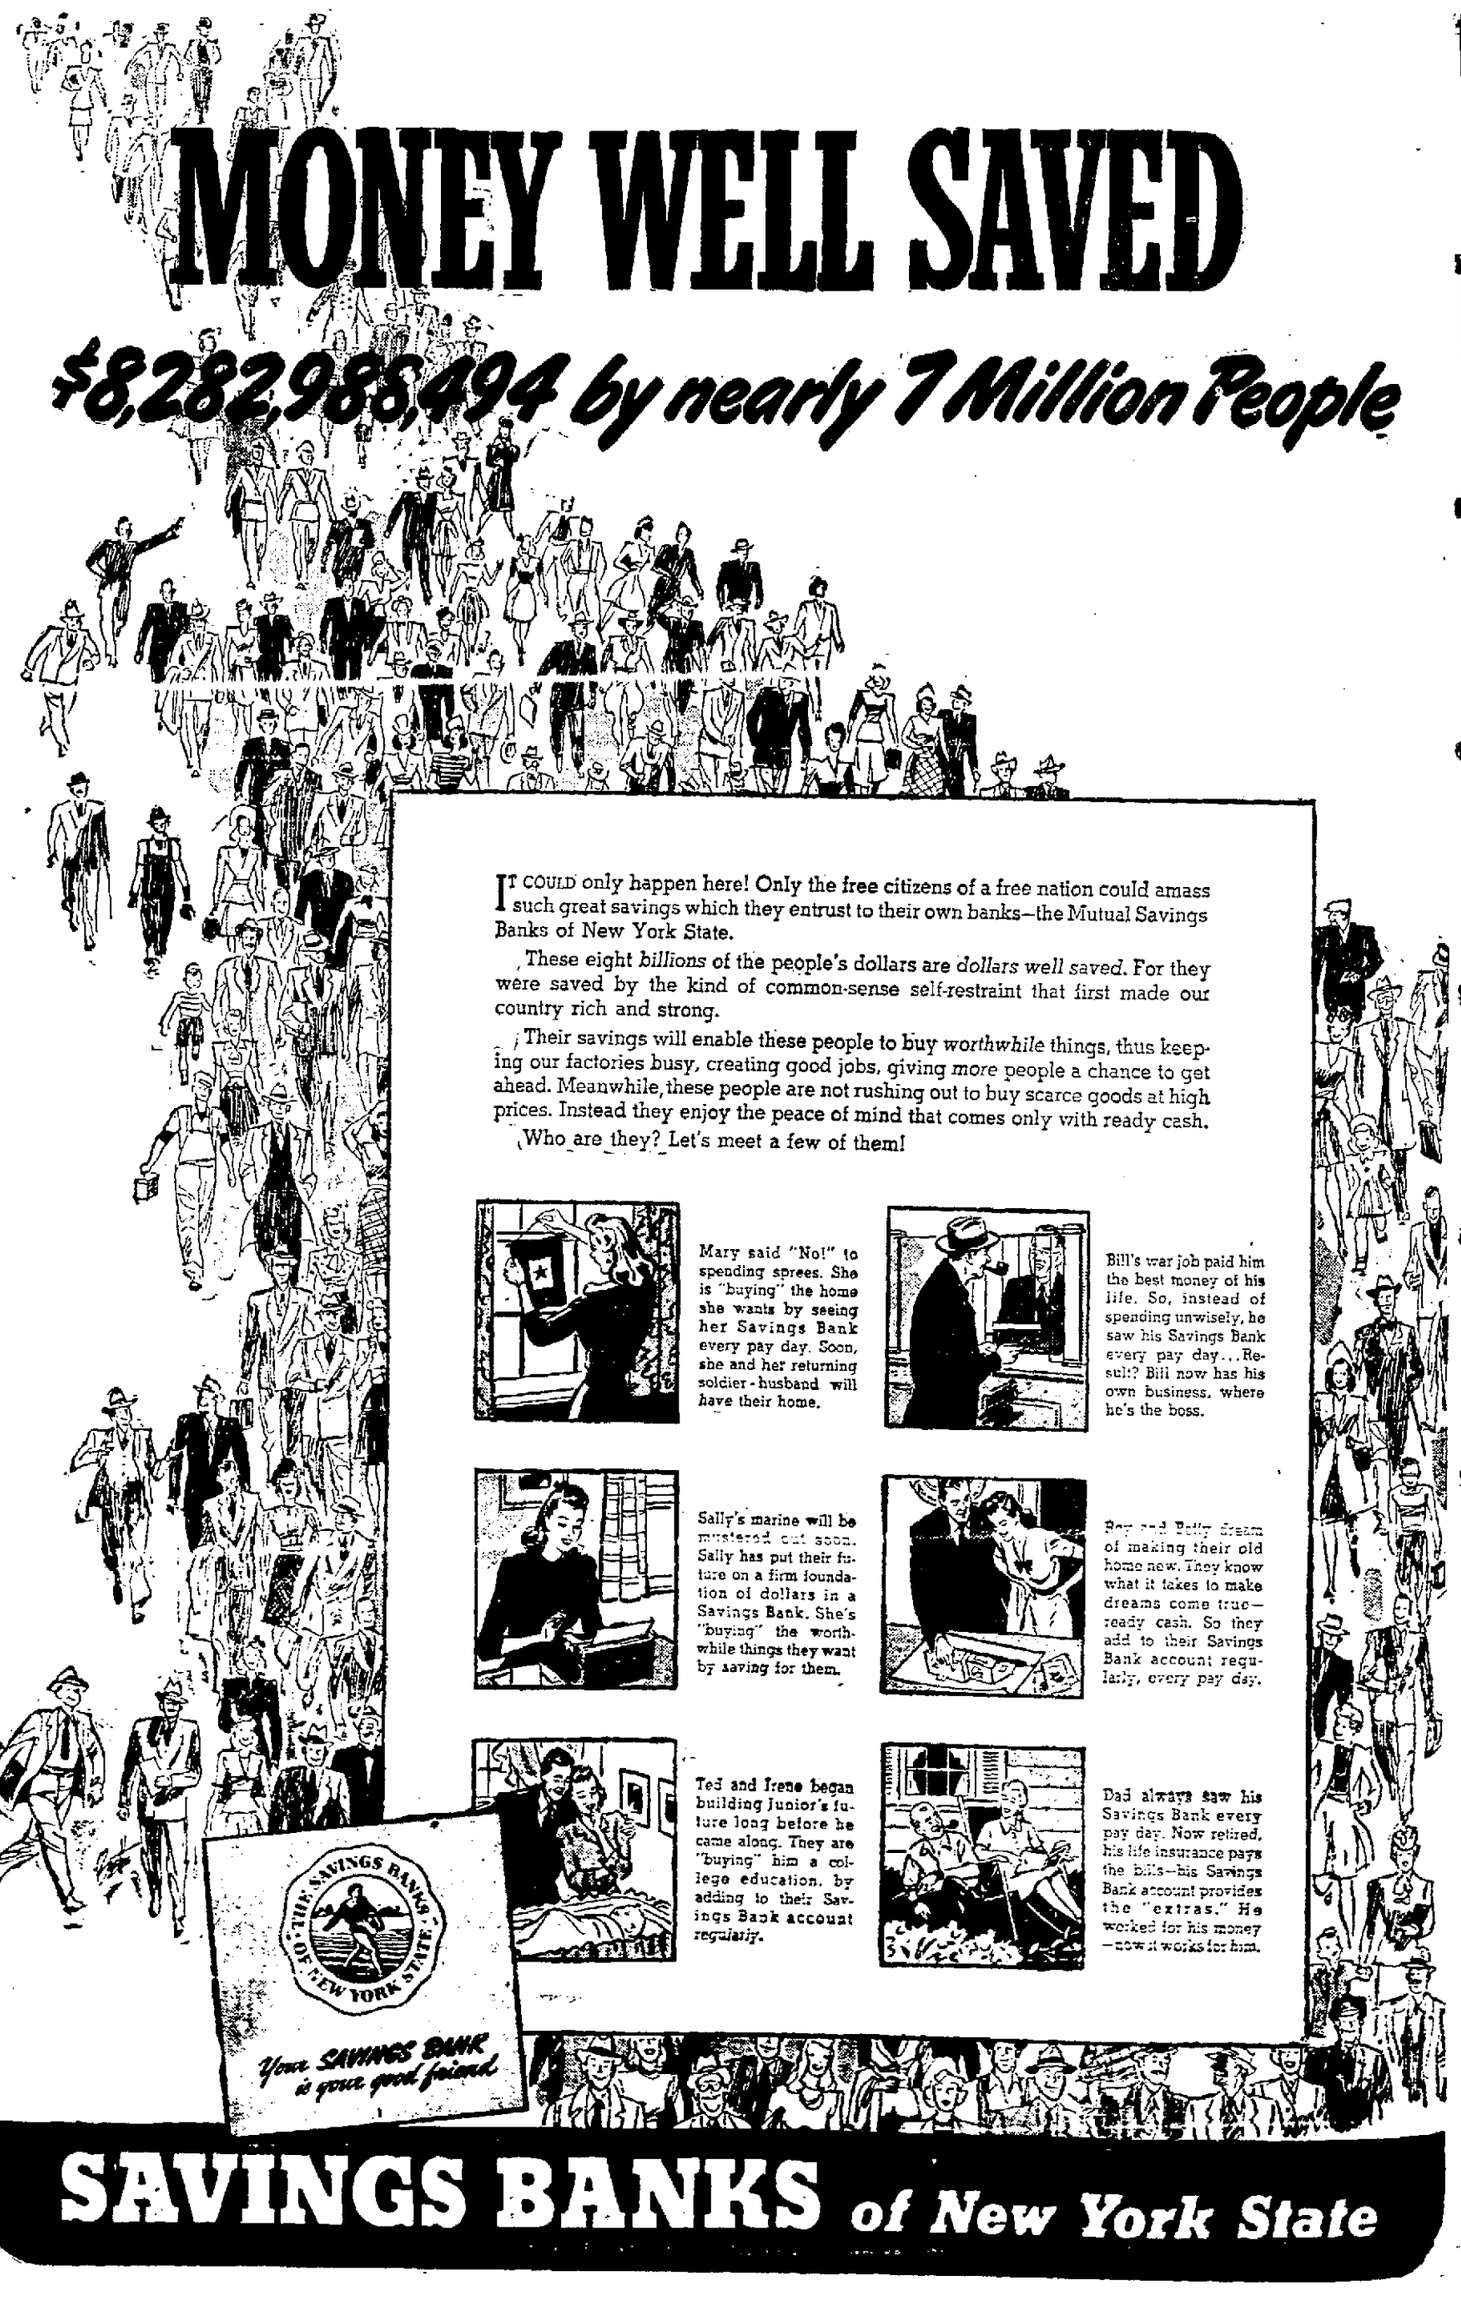
MONEY WELL SAVED
$8,282,988,494 by nearly 7 Million People



IT COULD only happen here! Only the free citizens of a free nation could amass such great savings which they entrust to their own banks—the Mutual Savings Banks of New York State.
These eight billions of the people's dollars are dollars well saved. For they were saved by the kind of common-sense self-restraint that first made our country rich and strong.
Their savings will enable these people to buy worthwhile things, thus keeping our factories busy, creating good jobs, giving more people a chance to get ahead. Meanwhile, these people are not rushing out to buy scarce goods at high prices. Instead they enjoy the peace of mind that comes only with ready cash.
Who are they? Let's meet a few of them!
Mary said "No!" to spending sprees. She is "buying" the home she wants by seeing her Savings Bank every pay day. Soon, she and her returning soldier-husband will have their home.
Bill's war job paid him the best money of his life. So, instead of spending unwisely, he saw his Savings Bank every pay day... Result? Bill now has his own business, where he's the boss.
Sally's marine will be mustered out soon. Sally has put their future on a firm foundation of dollars in a Savings Bank. She's "buying" the worthwhile things they want by saving for them.
Roy and Betty dream of making their old home new. They know what it takes to make dreams come true—ready cash. So they add to their Savings Bank account regularly, every pay day.
Ted and Irene began building Junior's future long before he came along. They are "buying" him a college education, by adding to their Savings Bank account regularly.
Dad always saw his Savings Bank every pay day. Now retired, his life insurance pays the bills—his Savings Bank account provides the "extras." He worked for his money—now it works for him.
